WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT INDIGESTION

Of all the complaints to which the human body is peculiarly liable, indigestion is by far the most common, and everyone is a sufferer to some extent. Indigestion is chiefly caused by defects in either or both of the mechanical or chemical processes of digestion. When the digestion is weakened the food stays in the stomach, where an excess of the gastric juices act upon it and cause fermentation or sour stomach. You can avoid all this by taking "Bisurated" Magnesia, the world-famed remedy which neutralises acidity instantly, and consequently stops the nauseating fermentation, pain, and other distressing symptoms. "Bisurated" Magnesia cannot fail to give you relief, no matter how severe the indigestion may be; it is the quickest, safest and surest remedy ever known for acid-caused disorders of the stomach, and this is why doctors everywhere recommend it, and why so many hospitals use it. Every chemist sells "Bisurated" Magnesia in both powder and tablet form, at trifling cost. Get a package to-day and stop suffering with indigestion and similar stomach ills.

YESTERDAY'S CASES IN THE COURTS.

BURNING OF SPIDDAL HOUSE.

AWARD REDUCED ON APPEAL.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE SULLIVAN AND MR. JUSTICE HANNA.)

Judgment was delivered in the case in which the Minister for Finance appealed against an award of £14,800 made by the Galway Circuit Court Judge to Lord Killanin for the destruction by fire of his residence, Spiddal House, Co. Galway, on the 29th April, 1923.

It was stated at the hearing of the appeal that in the burning of the house a valuable library was destroyed and could not be replaced. Lord Killanin had a Bible which was presented to his family by Cardinal Newman, whose inscription was in it. All his beautiful furniture was destroyed, and his residence could not be built again in the same way.

It was also stated at the hearing that the place was destroyed as a reprisal, and that the people of the district were anxious that Lord Killanin should come back.

The Court now reduced the amount of the award to £8,500.

Mr. Bewley (instructed by Messrs. Gerald Horan and Sons) appeared for the Minister for Finance; Mr. C. Maguire (instructed by Mr. O'Dea) for the Galway County Council; and Mr. F. FitzGibbon, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Golding and MacDermott), for Lord Killanin.

ANOTHER AWARD REDUCED.

Judgment was given also in the appeal by the Minister for Finance against the award of the Galway Circuit Court Judge of £27,158 to Thomas F. Lewin, residing at the Shelbourne Hotel, Dublin, for the destruction of Castlegrove House, Co. Galway, by fire in 1922.

The award was divided into three sections—£12,985 in respect of buildings, £10,000 in respect of furniture, and £4,173 in respect of agricultural machinery.

Mr. Costello, K.C., who, with Mr. Bewley (instructed by Messrs. Gerald Horan and Sons), appeared for the Minister for Finance, at the hearing of the appeal stated that he did not dispute the amount as regards the furniture, but he submitted that the other two amounts were excessive and should be substantially reduced.

Mr. Brown, K.C., who, with Mr. Price, K.C., and Mr. Maguire (instructed by Mr. H. Concannon, Tuam), appeared for Mr. Lewin, submitted that the applicant was entitled to the market value of the buildings at the time when they were destroyed.

The Court, estimating the market value at the date of destruction, reduced the sum allowed in respect of the dwelling-house from £12,500 to £8,840, and the sum allowed in respect of agricultural machinery from £4,173 to £3,000. This was a reduction of the total award from £27,158 to £22,325.

RACECOURSE ACTION.

RIGHT OF WAY CASE SETTLED.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

In the adjourned case of Doyle v. Naas Racecourse Company, Ltd.,

Mr. H. Hamilton (instructed by Messrs. Brown and McCann) applied on behalf of the plaintiffs, Mary Anne Doyle and her husband, John W. Doyle, of Kingsfurze, Naas, Co. Kildare, for an order, by consent of both parties, striking the case out of the list and terminating the proceedings in the action, which was brought for an injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with plaintiffs' right-of-way along a roadway leading from the plaintiffs' lands over the Naas racecourse, the defendants' lands, the defendants having admitted the plaintiffs' right-of-way and lodged £20 in court in respect of damages. The plaintiffs withdrew the £20 lodged, which they regarded as the end of the proceedings. In the order the plaintiffs were to be declared entitled to their costs.

Mr. Kingsmill Moore, who, with Mr. Geoghegan, K.C. (instructed by Mr. Daniel P. Blayney), appeared for the defendant company, consented to the order being made.

Mr. Justice Meredith made the order sought.

FORMER M.P.'S WILL.

QUESTIONS OF CONSTRUCTION.

In the matter of the trusts of the will of the late Patrick A. Meehan, deceased, merchant, Maryborough, Queen's County, and formerly M.P. for the county, an originating construction summons with respect to the provisions of the deceased's will came on for hearing. The plaintiffs were P. A. Meehan, Ltd., a private company, and the defendants were Francis Meehan, Norah Meehan, Elizabeth Mary Blaney and Patrick J. Meehan, widow and children of the deceased.

The summons was taken out by the plaintiffs to determine several questions arising on the will, including the following—Whether the direction in the will that Francis Meehan, son of the deceased, was to work and manage testator's lands and receive such salary for so doing as might be fixed by testator's trustees, created a trust in favour of Francis Meehan; and, if so, whether the trustees had power to determine or reduce the amount of his salary; and, if they had not, whether the directors of the company, or, in the alternative, the liquidator (Mr. T. Condron Flinn) had such power; whether the direction in the will that Francis Meehan was to have the right to use Maryborough House as a residence for himself or his wife or family, subject to the sanction of the trustees, created an imperative trust in his favour; and whether the testator's direction that his wife, Norah Meehan, was to have a right of residence in the house, and to have full and absolute control over the residential part of the premises, subject to any other rights of residence mentioned, conferred on Mrs. Norah Meehan a right to use the whole of the house, subject to such rights; and whether the liquidator holds the house subject to those rights.

Mr. E. J. Kelly (instructed by Mr. John J. McDonald) appeared for the liquidator; Mr. W. G. Fallon (instructed by Messrs. Meehan and Byrne) for the surviving trustees, Patrick Meehan and Norah Meehan; Mr. Jellett, K.C., and Mr. H. Hamilton (instructed by Mr. J. R. Cresswell) for Frank Meehan, first-named defendant; and Mr. H. Kingsmill Moore (instructed by Mr. Terence Byrne) for Norah Meehan, in her personal capacity.

Mr. Kelly, for the liquidator, submitted that the direction in the will with regard to the working and management of the testator's lands at such salary as might be fixed by the trustees did not create a trust in favour of Francis Meehan; and that a discretionary power in the matter was given to the trustees.

Mr. Jellett, for Francis Meehan, emphasised the fact that this was a private family company, created entirely for the benefit of the widow and children of the testator, who were the exclusive shareholders, referring to the provisions of the conveyance of the property to the company, and pointing out that there was no distinction between Francis Meehan and Norah Meehan with regard to the right of residence, the company taking the property, subject to their specific rights.

Mr. Justice Meredith reserved judgment.

DEPOSITS WITH CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY.

A QUESTION OF PRIORITY.

In the case of the Castledermott Co-operative Society, Co. Kildare, an application was made on summons, on behalf of the company, for a decision as to whether the Secretary of the company (Mr. Dalton), who had deposited £200 with the Society on loan; the Rev. Father Sheridan, C.C., of Moone, Co. Kildare, who had deposited £100; and Miss te Murray, who had deposited £35, were entitled to priority over unsecured creditors of the company, which, it was stated, was practically insolvent, and unable to pay more than 25 per cent. of its liabilities. The only statement in the minutes relating to the matter was that the depositors were entitled to 6 per cent. on their deposits.

Mr. Justice Meredith decided that they were not entitled to the priority mentioned, and said that he could not give the three depositors named any costs, but he would do so if he could.

Mr. E. J. Kelly (instructed by Mr. H. G. Donnelly) appeared for the company; and Mr. James Reardon (instructed by Messrs. E. F. Collins and Son) for the depositors.

WICKLOW ATTACHMENT CASE.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSTON.)

In the case of Elinor Graves Goddard v. Bernard Flood,

Mr. Sainsbury (instructed by Messrs. Morris Goddard and Davidson), applied ex-parte on behalf of the plaintiff, Mrs. Elinor Graves Goddard, wife of Mr. Morris Goddard, solicitor, of 1 Leeson Park, Dublin, for an order of attachment, committing the defendant, Bernard Flood to prison for contempt of Court, in disobeying an order of the Court dated 22nd April last, restraining him from entering on and trespassing upon or remaining in possession of part of the lands of Donard, known as "Longfield," County Wicklow, of which the plaintiff is the absolute owner, and directing him to remove his stock from the lands.

In an affidavit, the plaintiff stated that on the 3rd March, 1921, the defendant, by agreement in writing, took the grazing of the lands from 1st March, 1921, to 1st February, 1922, for £70. The defendant went into possession on 3rd March, 1921, and paid £35, the first instalment of the grazing price, and had refused to pay the balance or to remove live stock from the lands at the expiration of the letting, and still remained in possession.

Mr. Justice Johnston made the order sought with a stay of execution for a week, notice to be given to the defendant.

NO NEGLIGENCE.

ACTION FOR DAMAGES DISMISSED.

(BEFORE ASSISTANT JUDGE PIGOT.)

An action was heard in which William Keating, 79 Lower Beechwood avenue, was the plaintiff, and John Donovan, 28 Capel street, Dublin, was the defendant.

The plaintiff claimed damages for personal injuries, alleged to have been sustained by the negligence of the defendant, his agents or servants, in the management and control of a motor car his property, on the 19th July, 1924.

The plaintiff's case was that he heard no horn sounded and that the first he knew of the affair was when he was knocked down. He had been under doctor's treatment for some weeks, and alleged that he was permanently injured.

It was stated on behalf of the defendant that the occurrence took place while the defendant was motoring to Dublin from Leopardstown Races. A man named John Walsh was driving the car, and when they were passing from St. Stephen's Green, West, towards the corner of Grafton street and turning into South King street, a man was observed to cross the road. The horn was sounded several times, but the man did not seem to hear it. He was walking towards the car, and when he had cleared it he suddenly stepped backwards, with the result that the front part of the car struck him and knocked him down. The car was immediately stopped and the man taken to hospital.

The Judge found that there was no negligence on the part of the defendant and dismissed the action with costs.

Mr. James Henry (instructed by Mr. Osborne Davis) appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Geoghegan, K.C., and Mr. Sherry (instructed by Mr. Michael Harty) appeared for the defendant.

DEBTOR'S LAST CHANCE.

CORRESPONDENCE COLLEGE THAT FAILED.

At Kilmainham District Court, before Mr. E. J. Little, D.J., yesterday, Mr. Ohudhaigh, solicitor, sought a committal order against James W. H. Nunkivell, Main street, Howth, in respect of an order made in that Court in June for the payment of £23 11s. 6d. Mr. Ohudhaigh said that a sheaf of decrees had been issued against the defendant, who had always managed to evade them so far. The defendant set out his assets at nil and his liabilities at £731 10s. He started a correspondence college in Dublin and was coaching pupils in advertising. He was now moving about from place to place, and it was very difficult to serve him with decrees.

The defendant, giving evidence, said that he was an Englishman and came over to Dublin to start a correspondence college, as he had been told that it would be a good place in which to open one. He was not moving about from place to place, as suggested by Mr. Ohudhaigh, and he lived in Baggot street for fourteen months. He held a certificate from the Royal College of Preceptors, Bloomsbury square, London, and was connected with the Institute of Hygiene, Harley street, London.

Mr. Ohudhaigh asked that the justice should commit the defendant to prison. No stronger case could be brought against him. He came over here and started this correspondence college, and ran up debt to the extent of £731 10s. In his return of his liabilities he had left out several items.

The Justice made an order that the defendant should be imprisoned for one month, without hard labour, but granted a stay of execution for a fortnight so as to give him an opportunity of paying the £23 11s. 6d.

ULSTERMAN'S DEATH IN AMERICA.

ADMINISTRATION OF HIS ESTATE

Mr. Justice Wilson, in the High Court, Belfast, yesterday heard an application in connection with the estate of James Cunning, who had died in the United States. The application was made by Mr. R. D. Megow, K.C., on behalf of Mr. James Caruth, Ballymena, administrator under power of attorney for an American client for his lordship's determination as to whether, as administrator of the will of the deceased in this country, he is entitled to pay to the mother of the infant of the deceased, and now guardian of the infant, the moneys to which the infant was entitled under the will of its father.

Counsel read the affidavit of Mr. Caruth, which stated that James Cunning, late of Indianopolis, Indiana, died intestate on the 4th April, 1914, leaving him surviving the defendant, his widow, and his son, James Cunning, a minor, aged 14 years, his only next-of-kin. The deceased was a domiciled American. He was possessed of considerable property in America and certain property in this country. The administration of the American property was conducted by a Mr. Chestnut (now deceased), and letters of administration of the personal estate were granted in Ireland in the Belfast Registry to the deponent as the attorney of the defendant and limited to her use and benefit. The chief assets of the deceased consisted of a residence and about 100 acres, situate near Larne, Co. Antrim, and in 1920 this was sold by deponent, and owing to phenomenal prices then prevailing realised £6,500. The estate had been divided into the proper shares between the mother and her son. Deponent had now invested in 5 per cent. War Stock the sum of £6,970, which represented the share of the son, including accrued interest up to 1st December, 1924. He was anxious, if possible, to transfer the sum to the mother, which would be now advantageous for the minor, having regard to the current rate of exchange. Both the mother and her son were, he had been informed, and believed, anxious for that course to be adopted.

His lordship made the order sought on condition that the defendant gave a bond for 40,000 dollars, with the American Guarantee Society as her surety.

PROFESSOR PAUL KANAMORI.

VISIT TO DUBLIN.

Our advertisement columns announce that Dublin will be visited by Professor Paul Kanamori of Japan. He is to speak in the Metropolitan Hall next Sunday night at 8.30 o'clock, and details of further meetings will be announced later. Professor Kanamori has been described as the "Moody of Japan," and he has preached with great power in 40 of the 47 provinces of Japan, the Pacific coast of the United States, and Hawaii. He has just concluded large missions in Australia and Tasmania, and across the water great gatherings have come together to hear the story of his life and work.

Through the back axle of their car breaking and causing a collision with a telegraph pole on the London road, near Rugby, yesterday morning, Mrs. H. E. Holding, of Hanover terrace, Holland Park, London, was killed instantly, and her husband died soon after admission to Rugby Hospital.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT

BLACKMAIL LETTER.

HOWTH LANDLADY'S £300 DEMAND.

(BEFORE JUDGE DROMGOOLE.)

Annie Nolan, married, lodginghouse-keeper, Bay View, Howth Summit, was found guilty of having, in March last, attempted to obtain £300 from a Dublin woman draper by means of a blackmailing letter. She was put back for sentence.

Mr. Bewley, who prosecuted, said that the prosecutor and her children stayed in the prisoner's lodginghouse "on and off" in the summer of 1924, and left Mrs. Nolan on ordinarily good terms. In March she got a letter in Mrs. Nolan's handwriting, making certain accusations, and adding—"So, if you want to avoid this scandle been made public, 300 pounds will settle it. Five if it is entered for." All the money she paid Mrs. Nolan for all of them was £1. The rest of the bill was paid by drapery goods, which Mrs. Nolan got for her girls in the witnesses' place of business, and for which she still owed a balance of £9. Shortly after she left Mrs. Nolan sent to her for a loan of a few pounds, which was refused.

Mr. Bewley—Is there any truth whatever in the charges she makes against you in that letter?

Witness—They are absolutely false.

In cross-examination by Mr. M. B. Daly (instructed by Mr. C. J. Joyce), for the defence, she stated that it was wrong for Mrs. Nolan to claim that the witness owed her £36 for the board and lodging of herself and the children.

Mrs. Nolan, examined in her own defence, stated that Mrs. [illegible] owed her £26 for the board and lodging of herself and four children. When she wrote asking for the loan of a few pounds she was under the impression that that amount was due to her.

Mr. Bewley—You had no objection to making money out of this alleged immorality?

Witness—She promised it.

To the Judge—I would not have done anything more about it if she had given the £300.

A son and a daughter of the prisoner gave evidence.

The jury, as stated, found the prisoner guilty, and she was put back for sentence, after Sergeant Drinan had described her as an industrious woman and several letters testifying to her good character were put in.

SENTENCES.

Patrick Golden, convicted of holding up and robbing a Mrs. Darcy at Blackrock, was sent to jail for six months, to date from conviction. His lordship said that the sentence would have been penal servitude but for the fact that the woman who was attacked had asked him, for the sake of the prisoner's mother, to deal leniently with him.

Other convicted prisoners were sentenced as follows:—

James Harford, private soldier, receiving a calf—sentence of four months' imprisonment recorded, but suspended provided that he is of good behaviour for two years.

John Lane, obtaining money by false pretences—six months' imprisonment, with hard labour.

Patrick Giles and Thomas Gettings, armed assault on Edward Breen—four calendar months, not to be enforced if they keep the peace for two years.

Thomas McGovern, who was found guilty of the conversion of four head of cattle, the property of his employer, Senator McEvoy, at Kilmartin, was allowed out until the November Sessions, so that he might have an opportunity of making arrangements as to employment and the occupancy of his dwellinghouse on Mr. McEvoy's lands.

A STOLEN MOTOR CAR.

Ernest Teed and John Maddick, with addresses in Stella Gardens and St. Brendan's terrace, Ringsend, were found guilty of receiving motor accessories stolen from a motor car, the property of Dr. Griffin, Sandymount. They were acquitted on the charge of receiving the car, which was taken from a garage, and subsequently found abandoned on Pigeon House road, with all the accessories gone.

Judge Dromgoole, on the recommendation of the jury, bound the prisoners over for two years.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

PRISON FOR ASSAULT.

INCIDENT IN INTER-TRADE UNION DISPUTE.

(BEFORE MR. COLLINS.)

Patrick A. Kane, Wallace's Buildings, Ringsend, was sent to prison for six weeks, with hard labour, for an aggravated assault on a man named John Patterson on July 16.

At a previous hearing Patterson stated that he was a member of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, and that he and Kane, who belonged to the Workers' Union of Ireland, were employed at Messrs. Wallace's coal yard, Ringsend. Kane, with some other members of the Workers' Union, left work as a result of a dispute between the two unions, while Patterson remained at work with the members of his union. On the following day he was attacked in Great Brunswick street by Kane and a number of other members of the Workers' Union.

The defendant's case was that he participated in a general fight in Great Brunswick street.

STOLEN MOTOR RUG.

Edward Merry, Cuffe street, pleaded guilty to stealing a rug, valued at 50s., from a motor car outside a shop in Wicklow street. Detective Sergeant Devaney, who prosecuted, said that the accused had several convictions recorded against him. He was remanded until to-day.

Willys KNIGHT

ELIMINATES DRUMMING AND VIBRATION

THE secret of the entire absence in the Willys Knight of the drumming and vibration so commonly experienced in closed cars is the silent running of the Sleeve Valve operated engine, which under test has demonstrated and maintained superior power over other engines of equal capacity. The Willys Knight engines are fitted with the famous Lanchester harmonic balancer which smooths away the faintest tremor. Balloon or Cord tyres are optional. Touring Cars £415 and £475. 4-Door Saloons £625 and £710. Landaulette £710.

EVERYWOMAN'S FRIEND

Most women are frequent sufferers from those distressing symptoms that make up the complaint commonly called "weak nerves." Most of this suffering is quite unnecessary, since it is easily avoided, or an attack banished in a few hours, by taking Cockle's Pills. Headache, languor, irritability, tendency to hysteria, despondency, etc., are the result of irritation and congestion caused by certain toxins or poisons in the blood, and Cockle's Pills are specially prepared to counteract the action of these poisons and secure their complete removal from the system. Cockle's Pills are ideal in their invigorating effect upon the female system, and every woman reader who is subject to these depressing attacks will find in Cockle's Pills a true friend. Small pill (new size, 32 in a box), of all chemists.

A HOWTH WATER LOAN.

URBAN COUNCILLOR'S QUERY.

When the monthly financial statement for June had been read by the Clerk (Mr. J. Moore) at last night's meeting of the Howth Urban District Council, Mrs. Guinness asked was it a fact that money that had been subscribed for a Vartry water loan was spent by the Council for purposes other than development of the Vartry water.

The Clerk replied: "Yes."

Mrs. Guinness—I think that is absolutely dishonest.

Mr. Geary said that it was a temporary measure until the rates come in. It saved the expense of paying interest on an overdraft.

The Clerk said that it was useless for a new Council to discuss the Council's finances until they had been examined and reported on by the Finance sub-Committee that they had appointed for the purpose.

Mrs. Guinness—Then why are we doing so?

The Clerk said that the business before the meeting was merely the monthly financial statement, and not the Council's financial position.

The Irish Times.

TUESDAY, JULY 21, 1925.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

The Howth Urban Council last night passed a resolution of protest against the scenes of drunkenness in the town on Sundays, for which bona fide travellers were blamed.—(Page 5.)

A settlement of the hotel dispute in Dublin is expected before the strike notices become operative.—(Page 5.)

It is stated that the Select Committee which has been considering the Lane bequest has made its report to the British Cabinet.—(Page 5.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

A settlement of the coal dispute is expected in Government circles as the result of new proposals made to the men.—(Page 5.)

ABROAD.

As the court building at Dayton is unsafe, the evolution trial will be concluded on the lawn outside.—(Page 5.)

General Wetzel, a Headquarters Staff officer, in his evidence before the Reichstag Sub-Committee, attributes the failure of the German offensive in 1918 to the unexpected resistance of the British troops, mobility of the French and help of the Americans at critical moments.—(Page 6.)

The German reply to the French Note on the question of the Security Pact was delivered in Paris last night. It had a favourable reception.—(Page 5.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were firm generally, with greater activity and irregular movements in Rubbers. The price of the raw material rose to 4s. 6d. per lb.—(Page 9.)

Lombard street was well supplied with funds, and overnight loans went on at 3½ down to 3 per cent. Discount rates were weak.—(Page 9.)

Dublin Market was rather dull, with prominent quotations either slightly lower or repeated.—(Page 9.)

France's War.

Yesterday the French Premier made a reassuring statement regarding the situation in Morocco. The military position, said M. Painlevé, was good, and measures were being taken to strike a decisive blow against the Riffs. Meanwhile peace negotiations were being carried on, and official emissaries of the French and Spanish Governments were ready to present Abdel Krim with the terms on which peace could be concluded forthwith. Marshal Pétain has arrived at Fez, and his presence at the centre of operations is taken as indicating his country's determination to put forth its full energies if Abdel Krim should persist in declining offers of conciliation. Despite the resolved attitude of the French Government, however, it may be that the conflict will be prolonged. It is admitted that the French defences have yet to bring the Riffian offensive to a stand-still. Even as late as Sunday two French posts in the section near Fez fell under the onslaught of Abdel Krim's tribesmen. Marshal Pétain may strengthen the French defences with the reinforcements which it has been found necessary to send to Algeria; but at present General Naulin, who is entrusted with the striking arm of the French forces, is far from being in a position to assume the offensive. The 100,000 troops which France now has mobilised in Morocco are not sufficient to man a long frontier, secure communications and send columns over the miserable African roads to strike at an elusive enemy.

France fights Abdel Krim with a twofold difficulty. She has not long emerged from a struggle which took toll in life and treasure of every family in the land, and her people are in no mood to fight another war. She is laden with debt, and can find supplies and credit for a fresh conflict only by postponing settlement of her present obligations. Her finances are in a critical state, and her Government maintains office in daily peril of a fresh crisis which will hurl it from power. A large party in the State opposes the war in order to wring political advantages from the country's straits. Thus hampered at home, France is faced with unusual problems in the field. Her army operates in territory which is inhabited by tribes that are friendly to-day, yet might well go over to Abdel Krim if that leader, whose race and religion they share, should enjoy a prolonged period of victory. France must needs wage a war of propaganda against the Islamic chieftain as well as a war in the field. The Riffs have the constant advantage over their opponents which is always possessed by a mobile race fighting in its own wild country against a foreign and highly civilised enemy. Above all, fanatical zeal inspires those dusky warriors, who see in this war against the intruding Europeans the latest of Islam's holy wars. Thus a weary and distracted France labours against an impassioned race which enjoys all the advantages that can be rendered by familiar territory and conviction in the justice of its cause.

Europe well may watch this struggle with anxiety and hope that the determined attitude of the present French and Spanish Governments will bring about an early and secure peace. Larger issues than the fate of a little North African territory are concerned. If Abdel Krim should wrest from his harassed opponent a humiliating peace, his achievement would appear in the eyes of all Islam as a portentous victory against Christendom. In Egypt, Syria, Mesopotamia and, perhaps, even in India, there would be perilous stirrings of that fanaticism which is ever lurking in the Moslem heart. In recent years Islam has begun to undergo a curious renaissance. The spread of education throughout the Islamic world has slain many superstitions and banished many of the gross elements of Mohammedan practice. Islam has not perished by being modernised, but has taken fresh strength. Its adherents have ceased to read the Koran with a credulous devotion, but they have begun to read the history of their own race in the days of its power and intellectual eminence. A fresh pride has risen in an ever-haughty people. Abdel Krim aspires to give to this racial revival a political and military direction, and, if he is not denied that spectacular success for which he is striving, he may become the leader of a movement that will shake two continents. France is fighting to maintain her private interests, but she is defending the world's peace.

Statues.

Sculpture is one of the noblest of the arts, but probably no other art has been so much spoiled by bad work. This is greatly to be regretted; for, while nobody is compelled to read a bad poem or study a bad picture, every day thousands of people are compelled to look at unsatisfactory monuments and statues. The cumulative effect on the artistic sensibilities of a nation must be incalculable. There is one attribute which sculpture formerly was presumed to possess, but a modern generation is upsetting—namely, permanence. Formerly, when a nation wished to do honour to one of its famous men, it put up a statue or monument to him. The dominant idea was to perpetuate his memory. Even in the past this result has not invariably been achieved; there is in Belfast, for example, a statue erected to the memory of an eminent divine, the Rev. Dr. Cook, which is universally known as "the Black Man." It is only recently, however, that a school of thought has arisen which considers that a statue or monument need not be kept permanently in one place and might, for various reasons, be removed. This school first came into public notice shortly after the Irish Treaty was signed, when the suggestion was mooted that the statue of William III., in College Green, Dublin, should be presented to the Government of Northern Ireland to be re-erected, if possible, at Scarva. Next was heard the outcry against the Epstein memorial in Hyde Park, in which case ugliness was the reason given for removal. Ireland followed suit with the now notorious proposal to remove the Nelson Pillar as a matter of public utility, and the Howth Urban District Council is at the present moment debating whether or not, in the event of its removal from Sackville street, Howth would be a suitable site for re-erection. All these suggestions, iconoclastic as they may be, pale before the latest news from America. Speaking at the bi-annual convention of the Lutheran League of America, held recently in Milwaukee, U.S.A., the Rev. Andreas Bard, D.D., took as the keynote of his address the removal of the pagan goddess of Liberty from the entrance to New York Harbour. This statue has given rise to numerous stories. A Frenchman, entering New York on a liner, for the first time, inquired what it represented. When he was told that it was a statue of Liberty, he replied, "Ah, we in France also erect statues to our illustrious dead." What a vista this modern desire for change opens out! One sees possibilities of the Sphinx being removed to Scotland on the ground that its mystery exercises too great a fascination on imaginative minds, or of Verrocchio's wonderful monument to Colleoni being transplanted from Venice to Ballsbridge because Irishmen have a better eye for the good points of a horse. Future sculptors, remembering the butter Prince of Wales in the Canadian Pavilion at Wembley, may employ perishable material only in order to avoid the expense of transport.

An Australian Loan.

The Australian Government has negotiated a loan of £15,000,000 with the J. Pierpont Morgan Company of New York, which was offered for public subscription yesterday. It consists of gold bonds priced at 99½ and bearing interest at five per cent., which are not redeemable until 1952. The terms of the loan are quite attractive, and there is no doubt that Wall street made a special effort to secure Australia's custom. The Americans are very anxious to increase their trade with the British Dominions. They are negotiating also with South Africa with a view to a loan, and there is talk of the appointment of a special South African trade envoy in New York. Ten years ago no British Dominion would have dreamed of approaching the United States for a loan. London was the world's clearing house and British money always was available for colonial borrowers. During recent months, however, there has been a noticeable tightening of money in the Imperial capital. Several overseas Governments have sought loans only to find that the British public would not subscribe to anything except on terms which were distinctly unfavourable to the borrower. The Governments of New Zealand and New South Wales both had difficulty in raising money in London, and it is only natural, therefore, that the Commonwealth authorities should turn to the United States, where money is as plentiful as water and the financial magnates are only too glad to get rid of it to trustworthy borrowers. Nevertheless, it is to be regretted that Dominion Governments should be beginning to depend on New York rather than on London. Financial bonds are extremely strong, and it would be a great pity if the mother country should be forced through domestic stringency to yield her place as general provider to another land. The fact remains, however, that America has more money than she knows how to use, while Britain has become a poor country. Years must pass before her former prosperity can be restored, but if her people set to work with a will her recovery will be certain and her scattered children will have no need to go to New York or any other foreign city in search of loans

Third Party Risks.

A Bill has been introduced in the House of Lords to compel all owners of motor vehicles to insure themselves against third party risks. The suggestion is that licences shall not be issued for motor cars until a certificate of insurance has been produced; and the minimum amount of the proposed policy is £5,000. The Bill has received virtually no support in the House of Lords, and is very unlikely to get beyond first reading. Nevertheless, it raises an extremely important question which is of considerable interest to citizens of the Free State. Of recent years the number of motor accidents, fatal and otherwise, has been increasing steadily throughout the world. Every week sees thousands of new motor cars on Europe's roads. Highways are congested by private and commercial vehicles, and in town and country alike the danger to life and limb is growing. In the circumstances the idea of compulsory insurance against third party risks seems to deserve the most careful consideration. Every sensible motorist insures himself against this risk as a matter of course; but there still seem to be some who, ignoring the most elementary precautions, neglect insurance altogether. These generally are the very people who are the most reckless drivers, and consequently most liable to serious accident. If they injure pedestrians or other motorists, their unfortunate victims have small chance of compensation, whereas, if they were insured properly, payment would be automatic. Of course, there are objections to compulsion, but the majority of the motoring community will agree that there is a great deal to be said in its favour. The motorist has a duty to the general public which he ought not to neglect. If he wilfully does neglect it, steps certainly ought to be taken to protect the interests of those who may suffer through his carelessness.

A FILM OF THE WEEK.

"THE SIDE-SHOW OF LIFE."

An excellent film, let it be said at once; halting in action, perhaps, in its early stages; but, after the first ten minutes or so, deeply impressive, telling its story concisely and convincingly, and moving to its emotional climax with sure steps. The photography is good; the interjected wordings are few, crisp, and free from ugly clichés; and a good cast is headed by Ernest Torrence, who fills a difficult part with complete success. "The Side-Show of Life" is a Paramount film, directed by Herbert Brenon.

Its rather tawdry title disguises a tasteful adaptation of Mr. W. J. Locke's novel, "The Mountebank," which appeared as a serial in Nash's Magazine a few years ago. It exhibits Mr. Locke's fancy dwelling on the problem—in this instance the tragedy—presented by the man of humble upbringing projected on to a new plane by advance to high rank in the Army during the Great War, and then left high and dry there on demobilisation. A particularly ingenious "happy ending" closes the drama without tears, and denies it the name of tragedy; but the sense of tragedy lingers in the theme.

In the novel Mr. Locke introduced Andrew Lackaday to his readers as Brigadier-General, a man who holds his place in good society, and among aristocrats, by his reputation as a soldier, his innate nobility of character, and a savoir faire that guides him securely past minor pitfalls. Lackaday's pre-war career as a circus performer was unfolded later. In the film the story is told consecutively. We are shown the mean travelling show in which Lackaday—who as a boy had been left an orphan in France, and adopted by the circus proprietor—earned his living before the war; and then we pass to his rather sordid life with Elodie, a dancing girl with whom he took up partnership as a cabaret turn, "Les Petits Patou." Next come the stirring war scenes, which illustrate Lackaday's winning of promotion and distinction.

Then the incident (shown early in the story) of his chance encounter with Lady Auriol Dayne begins to develop importance, as Lackaday, now Brigadier-General, is brought into Lady Auriol's society. It is made plain that this aristocratic girl loves him as he loves her. Lackaday sees that marriage is impossible, and he takes himself out of her life. Forced by circumstances to return to his old way of existence, he resumes the partnership with Elodie; but he cannot regain the former skill in vaudeville and his tricks are out of date. Lady Auriol, who has followed him to France, is witness of the fiasco of the return of "Les Patou"—witness, also, of scenes that exhibit the jealousy of the vulgar Elodie.

The rest of the story had better be left untold, so that its development in the film may be enjoyed. What has been told will have indicated the peculiar difficulties of Lackaday's part. Ernest Torrence, who takes the part, unites the varied aspects of Lackaday's career and character with admirable skill; and the force of his personality carries conviction in all, even the most fanciful, turns of Mr. Locke's peculiar story. Anna Q. Nilsson as Lady Auriol has little to do.

The plot involves many changes of scene. There are circus, cabaret, artistes' quarters, battlefield, English mansion, and French music-hall, and all are cleverly arranged in the film. The battlefield incidents stirred applause at the showing yesterday. "The Side-Show of Life" is an exceptionally good narrative film and can be recommended as deserving a visit to the Scala Theatre, even while the sun is shining outside.

SHEEP DOG TRIALS.

PROPOSED NEW IRISH SOCIETY.

In view of the success attending the Sheep Dog Trials held under the auspices of the Clonmel and District Kennel Club last year, it is intended to hold another series of trials and demonstrations at Powerstown Park Racecourse on 20th August next. Many farmers do not realise the asset that they can have in a well-bred and properly trained sheep dog. The training of the puppies would provide occupation during spare time, and the friendly rivalry created by the trials would relieve some of the monotony of country life. These trials go far to show how much help a well-trained sheep dog can give in the collection or culling of sheep. They also indicate a method of alleviating the sufferings which beasts frequently endure when driven to fairs or in transit.

In connection with this year's fixture, it is intended to inaugurate a National Sheep Dog Trial Society for Ireland and to affiliate with the International Sheep Dog Trial Society. Mr. J. A. Reid, Hon. Secretary of the last-named society, will attend, and Mr. Alex. Millar will demonstrate with his famous international champion sheep dogs. The Earl of Donoughmore, who presents a £30 cup, will preside on the occasion, and Mr. Hogan, Minister for Agriculture, has been invited to attend. If the society is established, trials can be held throughout the country, a National Championship would take place, and in course of time an International Championship would be decided in Ireland.

COADJUTOR BISHOP OF PORT LOUIS.

APPOINTMENT OF WEST LIMERICK PRIEST.

The Very Rev. James Leen, D.D., C.S.Sp., of Blackrock College, County Dublin, has been nominated Coadjutor Bishop of Port Louis, Mauritius. Dr. Leen, who is a brother of the Very Rev. Edward Leen, D.D., C.S.Sp., Dean of Studies, Blackrock, and of the Very Rev. D. Leen, C.S.Sp., of Philadelphia, is a native of Abbeyfeale, and a member of one of the oldest families in the district, where he was born 37 years ago. He was educated at Rockwell College, and in 1915 went to Rome, where he studied at the French Seminary, and become Doctor in Philosophy in 1917. He was ordained priest on 11th July, 1920, and at the Gregorian Pontificial University Doctorate in Theology was conferred on him in 1921. Afterwards he became Professor of Theology at the French Seminary at Rome. Subsequently he taught moral theology at the House of Studies of the Holy Ghost Fathers at Kimmage.

OXFORD RUGBY SURPRISE.

The Westminster Gazette learns that Mr. H. P. Jacob (Cranleigh and Christ Church), the young Rugby football international three-quarter, who was elected to captain the Oxford University XV. for the season 1925-26 in succession to Mr. C. R. Wordsworth, will not be in residence again at Oxford, and will shortly tender his resignation to the Oxford University Rugby Football Club. Mr. Jacob will be greatly missed by his old club, for which he has performed with great distinction since 1923, when he first got his cap. Mr. Jacob is probably the first captain-elect of Oxford to resign the leadership of the XV. before the start of the season.

DEATH OF LADY DE TRAFFORD.

The Times death notices contain the announcement of the death on Monday, at Portland place, London, of Violet, wife of Sir Humphrey de Trafford, Bart., after a brief illness.

THE BRITISH POST OFFICE.

3,500,000,000 LETTERS A YEAR.

FROM OUR PARLIAMENTARY CORRESPONDENT.

WESTMINSTER, Monday.

The Postmaster-General is, perhaps, the happiest of all the departmental chiefs in that, while he has many advisers, he has few critics. Sir W. Mitchell-Thomson's speech to-night in introducing the Post Office estimates was of a purely business character, as befitted the head of a huge commercial concern with ramifications all over the world. It was brimful of statistics and showed the marvellous growth which has taken place in the Post Office services during recent years.

The estimates for the year total 52½ millions, but fortunately the Post Office is a revenue producing, as well as a spending, department of the State. Sir William pointed to the fact that during Christmas week letters had increased 65 per cent. as compared with 48 per cent. in the previous year. This led to some congestion, and a Committee had been sitting working out improvements for dealing with the exceptional traffic next year.

The telegraphic department, he said, was not so satisfactory, due in a measure to the competition of the telephone—a branch of the service which was making steady progress and produced a small but satisfactory surplus, even though the charges had been considerably reduced.

THE PENNY POST.

Although it is pretty well known that the Postmaster-General is in favour of a speedy return to the penny postage, he was not in a position to-day to make any authoritative statement as to when it was likely to come again into operation. This was, he pointed out, more a matter for the Chancellor of the Exchequer than for himself, and could only be dealt with in connection with the Budget proposals. He did say, however, that both the Chancellor of the Exchequer and himself entertained the strongest hopes that the reversion to the penny post would come about in the lifetime of the present Parliament.

Illustrating the vast expansion in the Post Office business, he quoted figures showing that, whereas in 1840 the number of letters handled totalled 169 millions, last year they reached the figure of 3,500 millions. A large part of the transport was still carried on under the contract system. The Post Office itself operated 550 motor vans and 210 motor cycles.

The Minister confessed that he was not satisfied with the telephone service, and said he wished to see it a more popular feature in the industrial and social life of the community.

A striking testimony to the general efficiency of the Post Office service was paid by Mr. Hartshorn, who was Postmaster-General in the Labour administration. When he went to the Post Office, he said, he was under the impression that everything was wrong, and that he was the man to put them right. He left with the conviction that it was the most wonderful piece of business organisation in the world. He could conceive of no more important department of the State, employing, as it did, 218,000 people with a standard of ability, sobriety, and honesty, which it would be difficult to beat.

PRE-WAR FACILITIES.

The subsequent debate was chiefly addressed to details of administration, the welfare of the employés, and so on; but a rather broader question was touched upon by Sir Charles Oman, who pleaded for a return to pre-war postal facilities. He advocated quick and cheap delivery of letters, and suggested that the Postmaster-General would be well advised to direct his energies in this direction rather than bother himself about wireless and the telephone system, neither of which, the hon. member confessed, appealed to him. He quite failed to understand the mentality of people who were content to listen to the broadcasting of such a ghastly subject as spiders.

Mr. Allen urged the advisability of regarding the Post Office as something more than a revenue producing concern. Any surplus of revenue over expenditure should be devoted to the improvement of the services and the restoration of the penny post.

The one point of importance in Viscount Wolmer's reply on the different matters raised was his own personal expression of opinion that the advantages of a cash on delivery postal service far outweighed its disadvantages. This, coming from the Assistant Postmaster-General, was cheering, indeed, to those members who have been constantly urging such a service as being conducive to the prosperity of a considerable section of the trading community.

WIRELESS BEAM SYSTEM.

Mr. Ammon, in the course of a discussion, brought up the subject of the new wireless beam system, but the Postmaster-General was unable to say more than that it was still in an experimental stage. The Marconi Co. admitted that they knew very little about it, and until the stations were working it was not possible to do more than theorise.

Dealing with claims for an all-round increase of wages in the service, Sir William Mitchell-Thomson said that if these were conceded it would mean an increased expenditure of from £6,000,000 to £9,500,000 a year, and would almost certainly involve a return to the twopenny post. He agreed that that was no answer if the claims were just, but regard must be had to the general rate of wages paid in other sheltered industries.

The debate was adjourned.

PENSIONS BILL.

MINISTER'S PROMISE TO APPROVED SOCIETIES.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, British Minister of Health, received yesterday a deputation representing the Friendly and Approved Societies with regard to certain suggestions that had been made in connection with the Widows, Orphans, and Old Age Contributory Pensions Bill.

The deputation said that it had been suggested that part of the burden imposed on industry by the bill could, and should, be removed, either by taking money from the accumulated funds of the Approved Societies, or by lowering the contributions. They were anxious to receive an assurance that he had not been shaken by this attempt to tamper with Approved Societies funds.

Mr. Chamberlain said that he would deal with the matter on the third reading of the bill, and until the attack had been developed he could not predict to them what he would have to take in meeting it. He assured them that he would be a party to nothing which would endanger the solvency of societies, or involve breaking of pledges given by successive Governments.

"BRAVE OF ALL NATIONS."

UNAUTHORISED REMEMBRANCE SERVICE.

The British Home Office last night issued the following:—The attention of the authorities has been drawn to cards which are being sent to members of the Diplomatic Corps and to members of the Government, Civil Service and other officials, purporting to invite them to a Service at Southwark Cathedral in remembrance of "the brave of all nations" on Sunday, July 26th.

No such Service has been authorised by the Cathedral authorities, and anyone receiving such an invitation is advised to disregard it. It will be remembered that similar cards of invitation were sent out for a Service at St. Paul's Cathedral on November 3rd last year, which was equally unauthorised.

LOAN OF £15,000,000.

WHY AUSTRALIA BORROWS IN NEW YORK.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Herbert Williams asked the Parliamentary Secretary to the Overseas Trade Department whether his attention had been called to the restrictive effect on Britain's export trade of the discouragement which was being shown towards the raising of loans in London for Overseas purposes?

Mr. Guinness—It is impossible to deal fully with this point by means of question and answer, but it is not in the interest of any part of our trade that we should lend abroad more than our savings permit. If we continued to overlend a general increase in money rates would be inevitable.

Mr. Williams—Has any restrictions been imposed by the Treasury?

Mr. Guinness—No.

Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy—Is the hon. member aware that the Australian Government are placing a loan of £15,000,000 in New York?

Mr. Guinness—It would be very undesirable for the Treasury to take action in a case like this.

Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy—Is it not a fact that the Australian Government came here in the usual way to raise a loan, but were told that they could not be accommodated, and that they then went to New York?

Mr. Guinness—I deprecate having to deal with such a complicated and technical matter by way of question and answer.

ORDERS FROM RUSSIA.

£15,000,000 FOR BRITISH GOODS

Mr. A. M. Samuel informed Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy, in the House of Commons yesterday, that the Overseas Trade Department had been informed by the Russian Chargé d'Affaires that his Government contemplated placing orders in England to the approximate value of £15,000,000.

Mr. Trevelyan asked the Foreign Secretary whether he had made any representations to the Soviet Government, either personally to the Soviet Envoy in London or through the British representative in Moscow, in regard to any alleged breaches of the trade agreement by the Soviet Government in the matter of propaganda?

Mr. A. Chamberlain—I am not satisfied that the terms of the trade agreement with the Soviet Government have been loyally observed.

Mr. Trevelyan—Will the right hon. gentleman supply Mr. Rakovski with details?

Mr. Chamberlain—No, sir; I have not thought that necessary.

LORD CHEYLESMORE'S CONDITION.

Lord Cheylesmore, who met with a serious motoring accident on Saturday, underwent a successful operation on Sunday night. He had a very quiet day yesterday.

LONDON LETTER.

THE CRUISER PROBLEM.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

In the Lobby of the House of Commons this afternoon it was rumoured that the cruiser situation had been brought to a satisfactory conclusion by a compromise. The First Lord of the Admiralty will not resign, though he may not get all his cruisers. Work may be started on three or four this year, and the remainder postponed until next. The economy school in the Cabinet agrees that it will not do to postpone the laying down of all the cruisers, as unemployment is so pronounced, and there is such great depression in the shipbuilding yards; so it is willing to give way and let some of them be laid down even if nothing of a more advanced character is done. It is becoming evident that the demand for national economy from all parts of the country is now beginning to have a great effect on the House of Commons. Every time the word economy is used in the course of debate there are loud cheers.

A Communist Member.

Some members of the Labour Party engineered a rather elaborate joke this afternoon, but, while it greatly amused the Socialists, it fell rather flat with the other parties in the House. Soon after the question hour opened, Labour members wearing a large red carnation entered and took seats; others whispered to them and then departed, to return decorated with a similar bloom. The distribution not being speedy enough, one member went out and returned with a bunch of blossoms which he distributed to those not already adorned. Conservatives and Liberals watched somewhat puzzled at this bedecking. The reason soon became apparent; for at the bar of the House stood Mr. Purcell, the new Communist member for the Forest of Dean Division, ready to take his seat, escorted by Mr. Henderson and Mr. Lansbury. All the members of the little party wore a red carnation. The Speaker called upon members to take their seats, and the three were about to move when Captain Arthur Evans asked whether it was in order for a member to profess allegiance to another body than the Imperial Parliament, presumably, an allusion to Mr. Purcell's political colouring, but the Speaker quietly remarked that the new member had been sent to the House of Commons by his constituents. The interruption of Captain Evans rather spoiled the effect of the red decorations.

The Coal Crisis.

Nothing of a definite character concerning the coal situation leaked out to-day, but it is said that hopes that a meeting may be arranged between the owners and the miners are still strong, and it is possible that such a meeting may not be much longer delayed. Another meeting of the Mines Court of Inquiry was held this morning, but the miners were not represented, having refused the express invitation sent to them by the court on Friday. The conference of the Transport Workers' Union opened at Scarborough this morning, when the President, Mr. Harry Gosling, M.P., announced that the Union would support the miners, but qualified his statement by adding that how, and in what way, careful and cool heads must decide. This is the attitude taken by the other trade unions, and it can scarcely fail to have an effect on the most extreme leaders among the miners. The danger of a general strike, if the miners are locked out, seems to be receding, but it is generally hoped that there will be no lock-out.

Parliamentary Holidays.

The inability of the Prime Minister and the Government Whips to state when Parliament will rise is causing some little annoyance among all parties in the House of Commons. The Conservatives, with the Liberals and the Socialists, are anxious to make arrangements for getting away at the earliest moment, sincerely trusting that there will be no industrial trouble to detain them at Westminster, and the delay in fixing a date is worrying many of them. The rush to the holiday resorts is now so great that it is difficult to secure accommodation anywhere in August unless long notice is given, and it is this fact that is troubling members with young families.

Third Party Risks.

The text of the Bill introduced in the House of Lords last week to provide for the compulsory insurance of motor vehicles against third party risks was issued this afternoon. It provides that no licence for the use of a mechanically propelled vehicle shall be issued, unless at the time there is produced to the issuing officer a policy of insurance, or a receipt for the insurance, against third party risks in the sum of not less than £5,000 of any damage caused by the use of such vehicle. In the event of the period covered by the insurance expiring before the date of expiry of the licence, the date of expiry shall be written upon the licence, and no such licence shall be valid beyond that date unless a fresh insurance is effected. The Bill had a very unfavourable reception when introduced by Earl Russell, several Peers speaking against it with not one for it, and its chances of becoming law are very remote.

An Irish Wedding.

Lady Cynthia Barnard, sister of Lord Bandon, who is to be married to Mr. Francis Tothill to-morrow at St. George's, Hanover Square, has chosen a delicate shade of pink as her bridal colour. Even the wedding gown has pink ninon as a foundation for the beautiful Brussels lace, a family heirloom, which is its principal feature. The train, which will be carried by two pages in pink satin, will be of similar material. The veil will be of flesh pink tulle, held in place by a lattice head-dress of pearls, with a tiny bunch of orange blossom behind each ear. The bridesmaids are to wear gowns of pink chiffon and hats of crinoline with pink tulle trimming. The ceremony is to be performed by the Bishop of Cork, and the bride will be given away by her mother, the Hon. Mrs. Charles Littleton. After the wedding the Countess of Bandon, the bride's grandmother, will hold a reception at Prince's Gardens.

A Masonic Query.

The Freemason this week says that the following has been extensively circulated in the United States from Seattle, in the State of Washington:—"A Masonic apron has been in one family 139 years, and is here awaiting a male owner—the apron was presented in 1786 to Sir Richard Harrie Call, a British naval officer stationed at Cork, Ireland, an ancestor of Mrs. Mary E. Gilmour. For more than a century it was in the possession of a Richard Harrie Call. The last male owner was Ernest Call. The apron goes to the first of Mrs. Gilmour's sons who becomes a Mason. Do Irish brethren know anything of Sir Richard Harrie Call, a British naval officer, stationed at Cork in 1786?"

AERIAL TARGETS.

According to the Air Correspondent of the Daily Mail, official trials have begun at the Gosport aerodrome of a type of aerial target developed as a result of experiments which it is intended should be fired at by artillery from the ground and also with machine guns from aeroplanes in flight. A large aeroplane takes the new form of target up with it and then pays it out at the end of a line until it is being towed through the air some distance to the rear. In shape, when viewed from a distance, the target resembles a miniature airship.

TRIAL ON A LAWN.

DAYTON COURT UNSAFE.

EXPERTS' VIEWS.

CASE ENDING TO-DAY.

EVOLUTION THEORIES EXPLAINED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

DAYTON, Monday.

IMMEDIATELY on the opening of the court this morning, Judge Raulston read a statement reviewing in detail the controversy with Mr. Darrow last Saturday, and repeating the remarks made by the Chicago lawyer on that occasion.

"This unwarranted and unjustified criticism of the court," added Judge Raulston, "shows disrespect of one of the greatest States in the Union, and I feel I must protect the dignity of the court."

The judge directed Mr. Darrow to appear before him to-morrow morning to answer a charge of contempt of court, and in the meanwhile to give a bond of five thousand dollars.

Mr. Darrow, smiling, rose and suggested that it might be difficult to secure the bond. "I guess you can," replied the judge.

The court received a guaranty for Mr. Darrow's surety, and the defence then undertook to introduce documentary evidence in the absence of the jury.

SCIENTISTS' EVIDENCE.

The attorneys for the defence brought into court documents prepared by experts in various branches of science, who would have given expert scientific testimony in favour of Professor Scopes had the court allowed the calling of such testimony. These documents were put in as part of the records of the case for the information of the higher courts, if, and when, an appeal is lodged by the defence.

All that remains to complete the present case appears to be the final presentation of arguments by counsel for the prosecution and defence, which has been limited by agreement to four hours for each side. As the judge will probably sum up to-morrow, an early verdict in the famous trial may shortly be expected.

MR. DARROW APOLOGISES.

Later.

At the afternoon session, Mr. Darrow, on entering the court, rose and said that he had not realised how strong his words last week had been until he read them to-day. Mr. Darrow added that he was sorry. He had been treated with great kindness by the people of Tennessee during his stay in Dayton, and he appreciated their kindness and consideration.

Judge Raulston accepted Mr. Darrow's apology, and then announced that owing to plaster falling from the ceiling of the rooms on the first floor of the court building, he feared that it would be unsafe for so large a crowd to assemble there, so he would adjourn the session to the court-house lawn for the concluding arguments.

Counsel for the defence called Mr. W. J. Bryan as witness. The prosecution objected, but Mr. Bryan said he did not mind in the least.

EXPERTS' VIEWS.

RELIGION AND EVOLUTION NOT OPPOSED.

Professor Metcalf, an eminent zoologist, stated that evolution was the only key to be found to explain the distribution of plants and animals. In support of this opinion he pointed to such structures in man as the vermiform appendix and the wisdom teeth as organs which formerly were useful, but were now of no more use. Professor Metcalf went on to state that, although there were varied opinions as to the causes of evolution, the fact thereof was as fully established as the fact that the earth revolves round the sun.

THE CREATION.

Dr. Fay Cooper-Cole, anthropologist gave evidence for believing that man and anthropoid apes were descended from a common precurser, stating that this theory was supported by bones which had been found in rock strata. He added that it seemed to him imossible to teach anthropology without teaching evolution.

Dr. Winterton Curtis, of the University of Missouri, explained that it was apparent that it was Darwin's theory of evolution, as due to natural selection, that was in dispute, not evolution itself. Since the fact of evolution was accepted for all other living things, he thought it was puerile to separate man from the general course of events. Dr. Curtis then proceeded to state that the story of creation as found in the Bible could be traced to a tradition common among the nations residing in ancient times around the Eastern Mediterranean. He believed that the Bible was a human document, representing the history of the advance of a people from the revengeful Jehovah of the earlier Old Testament to the God of Justice of the Prophets, and culminating in the concept of a Heavenly Father as preached by Jesus of Nazareth.

Dr. Charles Hubbard Judd, Director of the School of Education of the University of Chicago, expressed the opinion that it would be impossible to carry on the work of most of the departments of higher education in the State of Tennessee without teaching the doctrine of evolution.

CHANGE v. FIXITY.

Dr. Jacob Lipman, of the College of Agriculture, New Jersey, described the work of bacteria in soil, some of which were able to function in purely mineral media, thus preparing for more highly organised forms of life. Some bacteria were able to manufacture nitrogen compounds out of the simple nitrogen in the air, thus supplying material from which the protoplasm of plants and animals was made.

Dr. Horatio Newman, zoologist, of Chicago, declared that evolution was merely the philosophy of change, as opposed to the philosophy of fixity and unchangeability. Once the changing of the world was admitted, one had to admit evolution.

Mr. Wilbur Nelson, geologist, of the University of Virgina, discussed evolution as shown in the rocks of Tennesse.

Mr. Mather, of the Department of Geology of Harvard University, expressed the opinion that none of the facts of evolution contradicted any of the teachings of Jesus Christ, for the teachings of Christ dealt with moral laws and spiritual realities, while natural science dealt with physical laws and material results. Mr. Nelson then uttered a warning against opposing science and religion as dangerous, and likely to alienate from the Churches the best of their young people.

Mr. Whitaker, Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Knoxville, made a statement to be put in the records of the case. He said:—"A man can be a Christian and an Evolutionist at the same time, and I am unable to see any contradiction. He can also be a Christian without taking literally every word of the Bible, whose higher and truer meaning would often be lost if we held exclusively to the letter."

Mr. Shailer Matthews, Dean of Divinity at the University of Chicago, said that the Book of Genesis was not intended to teach science but the activity of God in nature and the spiritual value of man.

THE EXPORT OF EGGS.

EFFECT OF NEW ACT.

A GUARANTEE OF MERIT.

When the Agricultural Produce (Eggs) Act comes into operation next month Irish eggs in the English market will have behind them what will amount to a guarantee of merit. Stringent regulations have been made to secure that the Act will not become a dead letter.

OBJECT OF THE ACT.

Our Agricultural Correspondent states that—

For some months past officers from the Department of Agriculture have been visiting the premises of persons engaged in the egg trade in Ireland in connection with the provisions of the Agricultural Produce (Eggs) Act, which was passed by the Oireachtas on 30th July, 1924. This Act will come into operation on 1st August next. Its object is to improve both the home and export trade in fresh and preserved eggs. Our export trade in eggs amounts in value to about £5,000,000 annually, and, if Ireland is to retain her share of the trade in Great Britain, no effort must be spared in keeping the quality of her produce and her methods of selling up to the highest standard.

Egg traders who desire to engage in a cross-Channel business must first have their names entered on a register of exporters. For the purpose of registration the Department of Agriculture must be satisfied that the premises of the trader are structurally suitable for carrying on the business of testing, grading and packing eggs; that they are properly equipped for the purpose, and that there is adequate storage accommodation for packages and materials. While the Minister may refuse to register any premises which do not meet the requirements of the Act, such refusal must be accompanied by the reason for the refusal.

THE EXPORT OF EGGS.

Having secured entry on the list, an exporter may export eggs direct from the registered premises in which they were packed, provided that they are clean and fit for human consumption. Exceptions are made in the case of eggs for hatching, small lots sent by parcel post, and those merely passing through the Irish Free State from one place to another. The export of eggs by any person who is not a registered exporter is an offence which involves, for a first offence, a penalty not exceeding £20, and for a second or subsequent offence a fine not exceeding £50 or imprisonment, or both.

Fees at the rate of a penny for each three hundred of eggs exported are payable by the exporter, and the registration of any premises is automatically cancelled if the fees accruing to the Department from the previous year are not paid before 17th March in any year. Registration may also be cancelled if the registered proprietor so desires or if there has been any breach of the Act. Power is given to the Department's inspectors to enter any registered premises or any other premises on which eggs are sold or exported or stored for sale; the premises of any firm of carriers or warehousemen, or of any railway or shipping company, and to take, without payment, reasonable samples of eggs contained therein or of the packing material. In the event of an examination of the package disclosing a violation of the Act, the package and its contents will be forfeited.

CUSTOMS OFFICERS' POWERS.

Powers are given to officers of the Customs and Excise to deal with eggs or packages the export of which is prohibited or restricted by this Act in the same manner as they deal with other articles the export of which is prohibited or restricted by law.

The Department are empowered, as respects premises registered, to make regulations in regard to the method of testing, grading and packing eggs; the grades of eggs which may be packed in the same package; the marking of packages, and the description of eggs which may be brought on to the premises of a registered exporter. In regard to the marking of packages in order to indicate the premises on which the eggs were packed, a distinctive mark may be assigned to each registered exporter. Every registered exporter must keep on his premises a record of all eggs despatched from his premises, with the name and address of the consignee and the route by which they were sent. The Department are empowered to grant licences for the export of a particular consignment of eggs. Preservers of eggs are also bound to register.

DIRTY EGGS.

Apart from the provisions dealing with the export of eggs, the Act makes it an offence for any person to sell or expose for sale eggs which are externally dirty or unfit for human consumption, and in order to give effect to this provision the Minister is empowered to make regulations governing the packages and packing material used for packing eggs, the method and manner of protecting eggs from contamination. This power to deal with dirty eggs or eggs unfit for human consumption does not affect in any way the powers already possessed by the Minister for Public Health and Local Government to deal with the same matters.

Outside any regulations which may be made dealing exclusively with the home trade, it is provided in the Act that registered exporters may not sell or consign for sale from any registered premises amounting to thirty dozen or over which have not been graded, tested and packed in accordance with regulations. As the Act will come into force next month, persons wishing to become registered exporters should take measures to overhaul, if necessary, their premises and equipmnet.

The Act will not be allowed to become a dead letter. It affects one of our most important industries, and offenders against any of its provisions will be dealt with drastically.

SUNDAY SCENES IN HOWTH.

URBAN COUNCIL'S STRONG PROTEST.

The excessive Sunday drinking by bona fide travellers, which is stated to constitute a nuisance in the Howth township, was the subject of a resolution of protest last night by the Howth Council.

Reference was made to the "scandalous scenes of drunkenness" which were observed on Sunday last. It was pointed out that, as the holiday season was now in full swing, the evil should be dealt with at once.

The resolution, which was passed on the motion of Mr. B. Newcombe, seconded by Mr. J. Caulfield, added that steps should be taken to have the matter brought to the notice of the Minister for Justice.

Mr. Newcombe said that this drinking had become a nuisance to the place and was detrimental to the holiday traffic. The drunken disturbances which took place in the streets were scandalous. He did not think that any other place in Ireland had suffered as much from Sunday drinking. It was grossly unfair to decent people.

Mr. Jackson said that the Civic Guard visited every publichouse in Howth four times on last Sunday.

A second resolution, submitted by Mr. F. J. Geary, and seconded by Mr. M. F. Egan, called for immediate action to prevent begging, gambling of any kind, street trading, and the playing by itinerant musicians within the district.

The resolution was passed unanimously.

The Chairman, Professor Bayley Butler, said that since the last meeting he interviewed some officials of the Ministry for Justice to find out their legal position in regard to the prevention of these nuisances. They looked up the position and were willing to act simply on his suggestion to have the thing stopped. Last Sunday the gambling was stopped. The Ministry promised to supply him with a precis of the legal position, which he would place before the next meeting, when they could discuss the details of the action to be taken.

Miss Jane Keegan commented that the Press was always referring to the evils of the township, quite ignoring the good things.

HOTELS WILL CARRY ON.

A PROMISE TO VISITORS.

MEN TO MEET.

UNPOPULAR STRIKE THREAT.

THERE are distinct hopes that the hotel dispute in Dublin will be settled without a strike.

The members of the Hotel, Restaurant and Catering Association, however, are leaving nothing to chance, and continue to make adequate preparations to meet the situation should a strike take place.

"There will be no dislocation of the hotel trade in Dublin during Horse Show Week. Cross-Channel and country visitors will be catered for as usual, despite the threatened withdrawal of labour from the city hotels, restaurants and cafés, which has been fixed to take place on Saturday next," was the statement made by a manager yesterday.

In response to the advertisement which appeared in the Press on Saturday last asking for 750 experienced hotel workers to fill any vacancies that might be created through the projected stoppage of work, a very large number of applications for jobs has been received by the Secretary of the Association from unemployed hotel workers.

WISER COUNSELS.

Applications are still coming in to the Association's headquarters, and it appears more than likely that an adequate number of competent workers can be found to carry on should wiser counsels in the dispute be disregarded.

The strike threat has created a really extraordinary situation. The great bulk of hotel employés have only the vaguest ideas of the reasons for the dispute; a very large proportion are not aware of the nature of the Transport Workers' Union demands; and most of them are loth to be driven into strike action without being given an opportunity of declaring for or against a cessation of work by means of a ballot of the workers concerned.

MEETING TO-MORROW.

The fact that no arrangements had been made for a meeting of employés until the strike notices had become effective caused great discontent among the employés. A movement for an earlier meeting of the union members has been successful, and it is understood that the men will discuss the position to-morrow night.

AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

The following official statement was issued by the Hotel, Restaurant and Catering Association yesterday:—

The attention of the Association has been directed to a statement issued by the National Executive Council of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union.

It is untrue to say that the Hotel, Restaurant and Catering Association refused to agree to any of the proposed changes. On the contrary, Clauses 5 and 6 were both agreed to at the Joint Conciliation Board last week, and portion of Clause 2, with a slight alteration, which was accepted by the Union officials.

The vast majority of the staffs were absolutely unaware of the nature of the demands which were put before the Conciliation Board, and the action of the Union in sending one week's notice of strike was not taken with their knowledge or approval.

The public will be interested to know that at the very hour the demands for increased wages, shorter hours, and the abolition of the right of dismissal were being made before the Conciliation Board, the following leaflet was being distributed in the streets by the officials of the Union:—

IRISH TRANSPORT AND GENERAL WORKERS' UNION.

HOTEL AND RESTAURANT WORKERS' BRANCH.

HOLIDAY-MAKER DROWNED.

MANCHESTER VISITOR LOST AT NORTH BULL.

Thomas George Duffy (26), 28 Bute street, Manchester, who was on a holiday in Dublin, was drowned while bathing in Curley's Hole, at the Bull Wall, Dollymount, yesterday evening. Two men who were bathing in the vicinity made plucky efforts to save the drowning man, but when brought ashore he was dead.

Mr. Duffy, who was staying with his sister, Mrs. Carton, 16 Well Park avenue, Drumcondra, left there in the afternoon to bathe at the Bull Wall. Shortly after entering the water he was seen to be in difficulties, and Henry McDonnell, 31 Reuben avenue, South Circular road, and James Horan, 40 Marlborough street, who were swimming near the place, at once went to his assistance. Despite their efforts he sank, but they succeeded in bringing him to the surface and to the shore, where he was found to be dead. The city ambulance was summoned and brought the body to Jervis Street Hospital, where arrangements are being made for holding an inquest.

THEATRE MUSICIANS' DISPUTE.

NEW MOVE BY EMPLOYERS.

A new phase has arisen in the dispute between the Dublin theatre musicians and their employers, with the issue, by the latter, of an advertisement asking for applications from conductors and musicians. The advertisement also states that preference will be given to former employés of each house, so far as vacancies exist." The Musicians' Union declare that this notice will have no effect on their men.

It is anticipated by the Theatre and Cinema Association that they will be able to complete good orchestras from the applicants who will reply to their advertisement.

COAL TRADE LOCK-OUT.

STOCKS IN DUBLIN RUNNING LOW.

The closing of the Dublin coal yards, in consequence of the dispute between the Irish Workers' Union and the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, is beginning to cause anxiety among the consumers.

The sudden lock-out took the public completely unawares, and the larger consumers, such as the restaurant and hotel proprietors, are beginning to ration their supplies of coal, of which they had not had time to lay in large stores. In some cases, in fact, the supplies will be exhausted within a week.

An Irish Times representative was given to understand yesterday that the coal merchants will make absolutely no move until the rival unions come forward and give an undertaking that the petty squabbles that they have been indulging in for a long time past—to the detriment of the trade—shall cease. They are going to sit tight and let things drift till such time as the men come to their senses.

So far the merchants had heard nothing from the men about a settlement.

FIGHT TO A FINISH.

When the coal merchants receive notice that the two unions are prepared to work amicably together they will open their yards again. In the meantime no coal whatsoever is allowed to leave the yards, because, if they gave to one, they would have to give to all and sundry.

The coal merchants realise that, if the lock-out continues much longer, many factories and houses will be seriously affected. "But this thing is so important," the merchants maintain, "that it has to be fought out to the end."

Mr. James Larkin held a meeting of his union workers last night, but made no statement as to what action they are going to take.

It is anticipated in certain quarters, however, that the coal yards may be working again by the end of the week.

Addressing a meeting last night, Mr. Larkin said that at present he was in communication with Amsterdam arranging for a cargo of German coal to be shipped to Dublin before the week-end. He was also in communication with England and Scotland, and two colliers from those countries would be on their way to Dublin in three or four days.

CANCER RESEARCH.

DONATION OF £10,000.

The Medical Research Council announces that the trustees of the late Sir William Dunn have made a donation of £2,000 a year for five years to be used for promotion of medical research work. In accepting this benefaction the Council has intimated that for the present it will apply the money mainly to the furtherance of organised studies of filterable viruses, which it is supporting, and particularly to recent developments of this work in relation to cancer by Mr. Barnard and Dr. Gye.

At a meeting of the Yorkshire Council, established in association with the British Empire Cancer Research Campaign, held at Leeds yesterday, Professor Stewart, Professor of Pathology in the University of Leeds, expressed the opinion that the recent discoveries of Dr. Gye and Mr. Barnard had come at a most appropriate time, and would serve as a great encouragement.

It was decided that a public appeal for a minimum sum of £75,000 should be made in November, for the carrying out of research work at Leeds Medical School.

Referring to Dr. Gye's work, Professor Stewart said that it had only been possible because of the extraordinarily beautiful work in optics which Mr. Barnard had carried out by means of his super microscope.

Sir Berkeley Moynihan, the well-known surgeon, said that the instrument described by Professor Stewart was a vital one necessary, not only in cancer research, but in the investigation of a great many diseases. Research must be carried on in future in the University of Leeds on the lines of the investigations of Dr. Gye and Mr. Barnard, which opened up a new vista of thought.

FIRE AND HEAVY SEAS.

LATEST REPORTS FROM THE SCYTHIAN.

The Leyland steamer, Scythian, which on Sunday reported by wireless that it was steaming for Queenstown with a fire in the cargo between decks, reported yesterday that the fire was well in hand. The ship was encountering heavy seas, and its arrival in the harbour, which was expected to-night, might be delayed.

The Scythian, 4,865 tons, left Antwerp for Boston last Tuesday with general cargo. Fire broke out on Sunday, when the vessel was some hundreds of miles off the Irish coast.

WESLEYAN MINISTERS' FUND.

DONOR OF £100,000.

It transpired yesterday evening that the donor of the £100,000 to the Wesleyan Worn-out Ministers' Fund, announced at the Wesleyan Conference at Lincoln yesterday, is Mr. Joseph Rank, of London.

Mr. Rank is the head of the firm of Joseph Rank, Limited, and Chairman of the Premier Oil Extracting Mills, Limited. He was formerly a member of the Tariff Commission and of the Flour Mills Control Committee, under the Ministry of Food.

CASINO WRECKED.

ANTI-SEMITIC RIOTS IN VIENNA.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

VIENNA, Monday.

Anti-Semitic riots have occurred here with increasing frequency during the last few days. Herr Schobe, chief of the Vienna police service, has found it necessary to issue a proclamation stating that hereafter all Vienna police officers will be under instruction to use revolvers and riot guns if such disorders are repeated.

In the majority of cases the race riots have occurred at various coffee houses and restaurants in the Jewish section of the city. Yesterday, however, the casino at one of Vienna's fashionable kursaal establishments was almost completely wrecked during a fight between local Jews and members of a Nationalist-Socialist political organisation which has been taking a prominent part in recent anti-Semitic demonstrations.

Considerable fear is felt that the important Zionist Congress scheduled for August 16th may occasion more serious disturbances. The Government has, however, published statements to the effect that it will take extreme measures to insure the conference against violent interference.

TWO-SEATER TAXI-CABS.

The Political Correspondent of the Daily Mail says:—I understand that the Home Secretary is in favour of the present fares of four-seater taxi-cabs being reduced rather than granting licences to a number of two-seater cabs to ply for hire in London. It is felt that the latter would only tend to increase the congestion of street traffic. If cab proprietors are unable to agree to a reduction of fares it may be taken for certain that licences will be granted to two-seater cabs. The Home Secretary would in this event consult as to the regulations governing the new licences with the London Traffic Advisory Committee.

LANE PICTURES FOR DUBLIN?

SELECT COMMITTEE REPORTS.

CABINET'S DECISION AWAITED.

THE UNWITNESSED CODICIL.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

LONDON, Monday.

IT is rumoured to-night that the committee appointed to inquire into the question as to whether the late Sir Hugh Lane intended his pictures to remain in London or go to Dublin had made its report to the Cabinet.

The point in dispute is an interesting one, and the findings of the committee will be awaited with some little anxiety in Dublin; for the collection of pictures includes some almost unique specimens of the modern French school, which are very valuable.

The report having been made to the Cabinet, the document is a confidential one, and may, perhaps, not be published. It is highly probable, however, that a statement will be issued.

HISTORY OF THE BEQUEST.

GALLERY TO BE BUILT TO HOUSE PICTURES.

The Select Committee was appointed to decide as to whether the unattested codicil to the will of Sir Hugh Lane did actually represent his wishes that the pictures now in the National Gallery, London, should go to the National Gallery in Dublin.

If the report is in favour of the restoration of the pictures to Dublin, the National Gallery will house them pending the provision of a suitable gallery.

This decision was arrived at by resolution of the Dublin Borough Commissioners in September, 1924, in which the Commissioners undertook to provide within five years a suitable Municipal Gallery to house the collection.

That decision was ratified by a meeting of the Board of Governors and Guardians of the National Gallery in October.

In November last year Senator S. L. Brown, K.C., accepted an honorary brief to present the Dublin Corporation's case before the Select Committee.

The story of the Lane Bequest pictures can be retold in a few sentences.

Sir Hugh Lane wished that his gifts to the Dublin Gallery of Modern Art should be housed in a worthy building. The difficulties which arose about the construction of this

> "I bequeath the remainder of my property to the National Gallery of Ireland (instead of to the Dublin Modern Art Gallery, which I considered so important for the founding of an Irish School of Painting), to be invested, and the income to be spent on buying pictures of deceased painters of established merit.
> "I hope that this alteration from the Modern Gallery to the National Gallery will be remembered by the Dublin Municipality and others as an example of its want of spirit in 1913, and for the folly of such bodies assuming to decide on questions of Art, instead of relying on expert opinion."—Extract from Sir Hugh Lane's will.

building hurt his sensitive nature, and he removed the pictures and bequeathed them to the London Gallery. On the eve of his last journey to America in 1915 he revoked this bequest by codicil, and left the pictures to Dublin. Unfortunately, the codicil, though written and signed by his own hand, was not witnessed.

The law held that it was invalid and the pictures remain in London, though there was not the slightest doubt concerning Sir Hugh Lane's intentions. His sister and others who shared his confidence have furnished ample proof of his fixed purpose in the matter.

It is strengthened by the testimony of Mr. Freeman Smith, who, in a letter to Lady Gregory in November, 1922, said that Sir Hugh Lane called on him the day before sailing and said most definitely: "I have altered my will, so that the pictures at the National Gallery shall, after all, go to Dublin."

The Bequest Pictures number 39—the French pictures of Sir Hugh Lane's collection. They include Marlt's "Concert aux Tuileries" and his "Mlle. Eva Gonzales," Puvis de Chavannés' "La Décollation de Saint Jean-Baptiste," and his "The Toilet"; Jongkinds's "Skating in Holland," four Courbet's, three Corots, a Renoir and a Degas.

EVACUATION OF THE RUHR.

FRENCH AND BELGIANS LEAVING DAILY.

BERLIN, Monday.

The evacuation of the Ruhr by French and Belgian troops is proceeding methodically according to plan, and the entire area will probably be clear of soldiers by the end of the week.

The troops generally leave the towns early in the morning when the inhabitants are still in bed, and the evacuation so far has been carried out without any demonstration on the part of the populace. As soon as the troops have left the German authorities inspect the buildings and houses which were commandeered, and take over control of them. So far the entire Bochum area, including Bochum itself, has been evacuated.

LISBON REVOLT QUELLED.

MARTIAL LAW STRICTLY ENFORCED.

LISBON, Monday.

Complete calm prevails in the capital, and martial law is being strictly enforced. The casualties in the recent fighting are confined to the military, and amount to three killed and fifteen severely wounded. The Government will face the Chamber to-morrow, when it expects to be supported by the Nationalist Party in its request for the confirmation of martial law.

General Vieira Rocha, a former Minister of War and at present Commandant-General of the Republican Guard, has assumed command of all the troops in the Lisbon garrison.—(Reuter.)

AUSTRALIAN POULTRY FARMING.

REMARKABLE RESULTS.

Professor Thomson Hawkesbury, Agricultural College, Sydney, Australia, interviewed in his native Aberdeen, said that poultry-keeping in Scotland was worked on an obsolete system. In Australia the hens gave 100 per cent. more eggs than the average hens in Britain. That was accounted for by the Australian system of breeding and feeding. Climate had nothing whatever to do with these results.

If the Ministry of Agriculture or the Scottish Board of Agriculture took up his challenge, he would send them one hundred hens that would produce double the quantity of eggs laid by hens in Great Britain. The average production of eggs at Australian laying contests was 220 per hen for twelve months.

94 IN THE SHADE IN BERLIN.

BERLIN, Monday.

Berlin is at present sweltering in a heat wave. The temperature to-day reached 94 degrees Fahr., a figure not reached for many years. Similar conditions prevail throughout Germany.—(Reuter.)

SECURITY PACT.

GERMAN REPLY TO FRENCH NOTE.

GOOD IMPRESSION IN PARIS.

PARIS, Monday.

The German Ambassador, Herr von Hoesch, handed the German reply to the recent French Note on the question of the security pact to M. Briand this afternoon, when they had an hour's conversation.

The reply is a document equal in length to the French Memorandum of June 16th, in answer to which it was written. The French translation appended to it occupies seven typewritten pages.

In French official circles it is described in these words:—"It is couched in very moderate terms, and its argumentation follows in general the lines of the French Note. The impression it makes at the outset is that it clearly marks the opening of negotiations. It is true that the German Government formulates certain reservations, especially in regard to admission to the League of Nations, and the obligations that would be incumbent upon it by Article 16 of the Pact, but those are the very points that will be discussed, and doubtless cleared up, in the course of subsequent negotiations."

FAVOURABLE RECEPTION.

One thing is that the Note, which manifests a certain desire to come to an agreement, has been favourably received in Paris. It does not, as had been alleged, join up the question of the evacuation of the Cologne zone with the negotiations over the security pact. Herr Stresemann does not indicate that it would be preferable to assemble a conference between the interested Powers in order to pursue the discussion, nor does it seem that such a procedure would be very advantageous in the present state of the problem.

The exchanges of views between the Chancelleries seem, in fact, to be rather calculated to lead to desirable light being thrown on the nature and extent of the obligations to be undertaken by the eventual signatories of the mutual guarantee pact, particularly as regards arbitration in the case of disputes. That is, at any rate, the way M. Briand proposes to conduct the negotiations. He is going to communicate the German Note to the Allies, and it will be published on Wednesday morning. He will then confer again with the German Ambassador as he did this evening.

In the same way it is possible that the French Ambassador in Berlin will converse with Herr Stresemann. It is believed that the French reply may be ready in a fortnight.—(Reuter.)

FLYING TAXICABS.

NEW AERIAL SERVICE FOR SWEDEN.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

STOCKHOLM, Monday.

Freys and Co., the oldest established cab company in Stockholm, has applied for a licence to establish an aerial taxi-cab service. Twenty years ago this same company was the first in Scandinavia to substitute motor cars for horse-drawn cabs.

The first experiments for an aerial taxi-cab service were successfully carried out here last week. First one plane, then three have been purchased for regular passenger trips to nearby summer resorts and places of interest. The planes are equipped with tariff meters for registering the amount of payment due at the end of the flight.

Fifty separate fares were taken yesterday afternoon, when the new transport service proved immensely popular with Sunday crowds en route to Jobaden, Furusung and other seaside resorts.

SHANGHAI PAPERS BOYCOTTED.

SEQUEL TO PUBLICATION OF MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S SPEECH.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

SHANGHAI, Monday.

All local circulation of Shanghai's two leading native newspapers has been boycotted by the order of Chinese Radical leaders, because they published Mr. Austen Chamberlain's speech on the British policy towards China, as delivered by the Foreign Secretary in the House of Commons on June 20.

Immediately following the publication of the speech both news offices were visited by delegates from the Student Labour Union, who presented four demands:—

Firstly, the publication of an apology was ordered; secondly, a written guarantee that no further articles of the like kind should be printed; thirdly, the immediate publication of a lengthy refutal prepared by the student leaders; and, fourthly, a donation of £20,000 from each paper to the Local Strikers' Fund.

Although no announcement of their decisions has been made officially, both papers have published articles prepared by the student leaders replying caustically to the Foreign Secretary's address before the House of Commons.

While the boycott was in progress both newspapers lost hundreds of thousands of readers, and it is believed that they acceded to the demands of the student delegates on all four points.

POLISH DESTROYER BLOWS UP.

THREE MEN KILLED.

DANZIG, Monday.

This morning the Polish destroyer Kaszub blew up and sank in Danzig Harbour. Three of the crew were killed and six injured.

The destroyer, which was in readiness for a voyage to Sweden, was lying alongside the International Shipbuilding and Engineering Company's wharf in what was formerly the Imperial German Navy yard. She was built by the Vulcan company at Stettin in 1914-15 as the V. 108 in the German Navy. After the war she was sold by Great Britain to Poland.

It is thought here that the accident was due to an explosion in one of the fuel tanks.

ANCIENT BONES.

VAULTS DISCOVERED IN A KING'S COUNTY FIELD.

Vaults containing human bones have been discovered six feet below the surface at Croghan, near Philipstown, King's County, writes our local correspondent.

Workmen were digging for sand in a field known locally as the Danish Holes. The vaults or tombs were roofed with flat slabs of firestone, which must have been carried some distance, as no such stone is found in the neighbourhood. There were no traces of coffins. The vaults, which are constructed side by side, are separated by a few feet, and each one contains bones.

THE COST OF STRIKES.

The Morning Post, referring to the cost of labour disputes, says:—Points in dispute that are now settled after a strike or lock-out might just as well be settled before if there were simply more wisdom and good-will. Labour is contending now that industry is suffering from bad organisation, insufficient methods and obsolete plant. If those charges were true would the effect of them be equal to the number of working days now lost through disputes involving stoppage of work. No machine, however up-to-date, could be efficient under the conditions by which Capital and …

LATE NEWS.

THE COAL DISPUTE.

POSITION REGARDED AS MORE HOPEFUL.

Writing upon the dispute in the coal-mining industry, The Times Labour Correspondent states:—It may not be unconnected with the proceedings of the Court of Inquiry that while there was no direct movement yesterday to reopen negotiations between the two sides, certain inquiries seem to have been addressed in an unofficial way to the Miners' Federation. The full Executive of the Federation will be in London to-night to consider the case to be put before the Special Trades Union Congress on Friday. They will hear from Mr. Cook any suggestions which have been made since the Scarborough Conference, but it is not yet known whether developments which might make for peace can be expected.

It is expected that the Special Mediation Committee of the Trades Union Congress has the situation under review, and that action may, if necessary, come from that quarter. The general position may at the moment be described as a little more hopeful.

A LIMITED PACT.

BRITISH POSITION STATED.

The Times observes in a leading article:—Copies of the German reply to the French Note on the proposed Security Pact were delivered simultaneously in Paris and London yesterday afternoon, and the text will be made public to-morrow. The diplomatic debate is, therefore, beginning afresh, and the further elucidation of the German attitude makes it more than ever necessary for the other interested countries to make their own conception of the pact quite clear. The whole project is obviously useless without the backing of intelligent and informed public opinion. The pact must be simple, clear and convincing, free from any obscurities or occasions for misunderstanding.

There is a certain haze over the negotiations now. The original conception of the pact is growing dim in the haze, and it may perish in side issues. It is these accretions, these side-issues that are causing doubt and misunderstanding, not the simple idea of a simple pact to guarantee peace in the West, which is all that can possibly interest the British people or command its intelligent support. This central idea of the pact must be restated very frankly and firmly. The Western frontiers we know from centuries of bitter experience. We know the fears and dangers that lurk there. If our participation with France and Germany in a firm guarantee would remove those spectres, it is our own interest no less than our duty to take a hand. Here is a limited and intelligible commitment which would not be burdensome, since it would deliver us at last from the worst of those peace conflicts of which we are so utterly weary, and would give assurance and relief at once to those who were our Allies and to those who were our enemies in the war.

But if our participation is to be effective—indeed, if there is to be any British participation at all—it must be most strictly and definitely limited.

FRENCH DEBTS.

THE NEGOTIATIONS WITH BRITAIN.

M. Caillaux foresees three steps which will have to be completed in order to stabilise the finances of France, announces The Times Paris Correspondent. The first is the balancing of the Budget; the second is the consolidation of the floating debt, and the third the gradual amortisation of the debt, both internal and external. The first step can be said to have been taken; the second was begun to-day by the launching of the new Conversion Loan, which will replace a large part of the short terms bonds at present in currency. This much accomplished, M. Caillaux can now give some of his attention to the third part of his programme.

He intends to tackle the problem of foreign debt without delay. It is probable that experts will be despatched to London this week to take up the negotiations with the British Treasury at the point where they were left in March. M. Caillaux counts on going to London himself, but he wishes contact to be resumed between the two Treasuries before he takes the matter up in person. He means later to go to Washington as well, but he hopes to have brought the negotiations with the British Government to a satisfactory stage before crossing the Atlantic.

THE MOROCCAN WAR.

FRENCH OFFENSIVE TO BEGIN SOON.

In a message from Paris last night, The Times Correspondent states:—There are to-day indications of an improvement in the situation in Morocco, and the reinforcements from France are beginning to arrive. M. Painlevé, speaking to representatives of the Press after the Cabinet meeting to-day, said the anxiety which had begun to be felt is now completely dispelled. The time for action is approaching. The offensive will not begin until everything is quite ready, but we shall very shortly be in a position to strike the decisive blow which will ensure complete peace in Morocco. Marshal Pétain's presence in Fez and the arrival of the first drafts of the Moroccan Division from the Rhine at Ujda, on the frontier of Algeria and Morocco, have brought an immense sense of relief to the tired troops, which have been fighting and marching without relief ever since the campaign began.

The French correspondents at the front describe the infantry as almost in rags. Abdel Krim appears to be still confident of achieving success. Though several unofficial French emissaries have been in touch with him of late, he has given no sign that he desires to consider terms of peace. Consequently the conditions which have been agreed upon by the French and Spanish Governments at the Madrid Conference have not been communicated to him, but he knows that he can have them when he wants them. The French Government feels now that it can face its pacifists with a clear conscience whenever General Naulin decides to start larger operations with the forces which are being placed at his disposal.

CABINET AND CRUISERS.

SERIOUS DEVELOPMENTS POSSIBLE.

The Times Parliamentary Correspondent writes:—The meeting of the Cabinet, at which a definite decision will be taken about the programme of new naval construction, will not be held until to-morrow, and it is hoped that it may be possible to make an announcement in the House of Commons later in the day in view of the general anxiety that prevails on the subject. What happened yesterday was that the Prime Minister was in consultation with a number of his colleagues individually in order that he may know exactly the views of the members of the Cabinet before to-morrow's meeting. The present position is that the Admiralty consider that bedrock has been reached with its demand for four new cruisers, to be begun this year and three next year. It was said yesterday that the Admiralty might be willing to come to an arrangement by which three cruisers would be laid down this year and four next year, but the Treasury has not accepted this basis.

It is understood that the most that the supporters of the economy movement in the Cabinet will agree to by way of compromise is two this year and two next year, with a possible additional cruiser next year, if, in the meantime, the Admiralty have been able to make drastic economies in other directions. The supporters of the naval programme last night declared that such a proposal could not be regarded as satisfactory. Unless the effort at a compromise is attended with better fortune to-day the resignation of Mr. Bridgeman, the First Lord of the Admiralty, is still a possibility, and it would certainly be accompanied by the resignations of Mr. J. C. C. Davidson, the Financial Secretary to the Admiralty; of Lord Stanhope, the Civil Lord; and of the Sea Lords of the Admiralty. But Conservative members of the House of Commons last night were sincerely anxious to avert so serious a development, which would have consequences more far-reaching than the naval programme itself.

COAL PEACE MOVE.

CABINET'S OFFER TO MEN.

SECRET TERMS.

HOPES FOR A SETTLEMENT.

ON behalf of the Government, certain suggestions have been made to Mr. Cook, the miners' secretary, which, it is hoped, will lead to steps towards peace. The nature of the suggestions cannot be disclosed. It is anticipated that Mr. Cook will take an early opportunity to acquaint his executive with them, and, in the event of their being favourably received, important developments in the coal dispute may be expected.

The Miners' Executive will be busily engaged in London until the end of the week. They are meeting the General Council of the Trades Union Congress on Friday. It is understood that the Special Mediation Committee of the Trades Union Congress are exploring the position with a view to early action.

THE INQUIRY.

Replying at the Coal Court of Inquiry yesterday afternoon to Mr. Sherwood, who expressed the opinion that the problem was a bigger one than merely dealing with wages and conditions, and that the re-organisation of the industry and the centralisation of methods would be necessary, Mr. Williams considered that centralisation would not bring about an improvement.

The first effect of the return to the eight hour day, he said, would be the reduction of cost and the consequential reduction of the price. Coal-owners were bound to lose very heavily on the huge stocks of coal at present in Great Britain. The fall in the efficiency of the industry could be traced to the reduction of hours. With the possible exception of Spain, we could not compete with other countries which were working longer hours.

Miners, he admitted, were actually in the pits for seven and a half hours, and on an average would be underground an hour longer if the eight hour day were re-established.

NO SEPARATE SETTLEMENTS.

In a statement yesterday, Mr. Herbert Smith, the president of the Miners' Federation, said that several collieries were making attempts to get separate settlements on the wages question, but any settlement arrived at must be the national settlement. Yorkshire would be loyal to the Federation.

Some colliery companies were offering better terms than the owners' proposals, with the object of dividing the men. The miners' leaders were as anxious as anyone to get a settlement, but it must be on national lines, with a guaranteed minimum and equal to the cost of living.

Miners, he said, were asked to make subsidies to other industries by a reduction of wages to enable other industries to work full time. They desired peace, but it could not be bought at that price; hence the refusal of miners' leaders to attend a court of inquiry, or meet the owners so long as the owners kept their proposals hanging over the miners' heads.

NOTICE IN NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.

A Mansfield (Notts.) telegram says:—The colleries affiliated to the Coalowners' Union propose to give the men fourteen days' notice to end their contracts. How many pits in the Notts. coalfield will take this action is not yet ascertainable, but the Bolsover colliery, which has five pits, will give the notice. Forty per cent. of the men only are in the Miners' Union.

All the pits in the district are just now fully employed in trying to complete contracts and meet the increased demand for domestic coal.

BIG DEMAND FOR COAL.

The prospect of a stoppage has resulted in heavy exporting of coal from Sunderland. Last week's total of 110,000 tons was considerably above the average. The coal is practically all on contract account, and is being sent chiefly to British ports for gas companies and householders' use. Very little fresh business has resulted, the crisis having no effect on the Continental market. To meet the demand the pits will be fully employed until the end of the month.

UNRULY CLYDESIDER.

SUSPENDED FROM STANDING COMMITTEE.

During the discussion of a clause of the Unemployment Insurance Bill in Standing Committee of the House of Commons yesterday afternoon a remark was made by a Labour member, Mr. Buchanan, of Glasgow, which the Chairman requested him to withdraw.

This he refused to do, and the Committee by thirty-three votes to one ordered that he should be reported to the House of Commons.

At the time of the incident only two Labour members were in the room, Mr. Buchanan and Mr. Stephens. Earlier in the sitting, following the rejection of a series of amendments and the refusal of the Chairman to accept a motion for the adjournment, Mr. Tom Shaw remarked that the matter was a farce, and asked whether they were going to be consulted at all. He declared rather heatedly that he would leave the room, which he did.

£500,000 FIRE DAMAGE.

MELBOURNE KNITTING MILL DESTROYED.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Lincoln Knitting Mills, at Coburg, a Northern suburb of Melbourne, have been gutted by fire.

The Lincoln works occupied six-and-a-half acres and had reached a most successful stage in their operations, being unable to cope with their orders. The fire raged for several hours, and a vast quantity of manufactured stock and raw material, together with much valuable machinery, including forty-three new knitting machines, was destroyed. New machinery is being ordered from overseas immediately. Four hundred employés are thrown out of work. The damage is estimated at £500,000. The spinning mills were saved.—(Reuter.)

Several provincial newspapers in Belgium announce that, as the printers have ceased work, they will probably not appear from to-day. The printers are demanding an increase of wages and a holiday on pay.

THE CAMPAIGN IN MOROCCO.

FRENCH PREPARING FOR DECISIVE BLOW.

PREMIER'S STATEMENT.

PARIS, Monday.

Replying to questions on the Moroccan situation at the conclusion of the Cabinet meeting this morning, M. Painlevé said that peace negotiations were being carried on. At the same time, all the necessary measures were being taken to consolidate the front and to deliver a decisive stroke which would ensure a secure peace.

The leading units of the "Moroccan Division" had already arrived at Oudja, but any offensive which might be necessary would only be undertaken when all preparations were completed.

M. Painlevé concluded by stating that Abdel Krim had to-day been informed that two official emissaries of the French and Spanish Governments were in possession of the Franco-Spanish terms of peace. These, however, had not been communicated to the Riffi leader, though the latter now knew that he could learn them if he wished.

POSITION IMPROVING.

The Premier's optimism is borne out by French despatches from Morocco. The Fez Correspondent of the Temps telegraphs that the general situation continues to improve. Marshal Petain, the Correspondent says, arrived at the psychological moment, and his presence has given a strong impetus. Yesterday he conferred with various Generals, and to-day he is visiting the front. The French Air Service has again been active. Recently aeroplanes made as many as forty bombing raids daily, in addition to supplying beleagured garrisons with munitions. The Ministry of War has issued a denial to the report that the French were using gas in Morocco.—(Reuter.)

RELIEF OF AIN AICHA.

FEZ, Monday.

An official communiqué says that the situation is fairly quiet. The important event of the day was the relief of Ain Aicha, after a very lively engagement, in the course of which the enemy left 200 dead on the field. The Ain Mashif post, which had been vigorously pressed by the enemy for several days, has been relieved. In the other sections of the front only a few isolated raids are reported. There is no change in the enemy movements reported yesterday.

DESERT WAR.

From Our Special Correspondent.

FEZ, Sunday.

"Eighteen miles of fighting, and then we have petit déjeuner en avant mes enfants."

At two o'clock this morning a strong force of picked French troops, drawn up in the dark along the roadsides leading from the French base camp, North of Fez, received this parting injunction from their commander. The force consisted of cavalry, light and heavy artillery, and infantry.

Before the first streaks of dawn the groups of leaders had melted right and left from the roads, maintaining a fan-like formation and steadily pushing northward, taking advantage of all shelter and advancing by forward rushes, employing the protection of each contour and trees and rocks and hillsides.

Lurid stars of flame from the dark shadows of hilltop craters and rifle cracks from the blackness of valleys were the first evidence that contact had been established with the Riffians, who spread out in large numbers between the troops and their goal for this day's dash. The French advanced steadily, holding their fire until the improving light better revealed the positions of the native sharpshooters.

A succession of red flashes blazed from the dimly outlined grey turret of an armoured car which was drawn up under a roadside olive tree, whose peace symbol branches and leaves obscured the silhouette of the modern war chariot employed for the extinction of snipers' nests.

Under the cover of a machine-gun fusilade, infantry groups advanced over the hillside on the run. The khaki-covered fezes of the mounted groups were seen bobbing up and down between the rocks on the farther hillside. The Algerian horsemen fired there rifles while at the gallop. Running Riffians, clambering over the rocks, were brought down by the rifle and sabre.

Stretcher-bearers followed the advance, taking care of the wounded and carrying them back to mule litters, which were waiting in sheltered ravines. Struggling and wounded horses were relieved from pain by shots of mercy. Aeroplanes now hum above, following the advance as the North African sun ushers in another burning day of Moroccan fighting.

BOMBS FROM THE AIR.

Pilots report back by Radio that progress has already been made and that they are proceeding northwards to sweep lower, dropping bombs on the hill craters at points calculated to conceal the Moroccan resistance. Thousands of pounds of machine-gun ammunition were emptied upon the Riffian groups from the air before the machines returned to their bases for re-loading. By seven o'clock half the distance had been covered and a wide swathe cut through the hills and valleys held by Abdel Krim's forces.

The advance was maintained by a road column, assisted always by flanking cavalry and aeroplanes, which kept up a continual bombardment. Reports are still incomplete as to the number of Riffians killed or wounded, because the character of the fighting was such that no enumeration could be made.

By 11 o'clock the advancing column had come under the protection of the artillery and machine gun barrage of the beleaguered hill-top post of Ain Aischa, which defends the French bridgehead position on Gouergha, 30 miles north of Fez. A cheer went up from the post defenders, who for the last ten days have been resisting persistent enemy attacks and strong enemy fire from all sides.

By noon the relieving column and its flanking groups had passed safely the barbed wire of the stronghold. The relief had been accomplished.

A BEANFEAST.

A beanfeast was served, as promised, would be the formal conclusion to the account of one day's tough fighting, which is not very much different from any other day's fighting during the last three months on the French front in Morocco. This afternoon, to-night or to-morrow, or some time withing the next few days, it will all have to be done again, when the relieved garrison of Ain Aischa emerges from its stronghold and starts to fight its way back to the base from which the relieving column started this morning.

During the relief of Ain Aischa to-day 40 aerial bombardments were carried out against the Riffians, who had been renewing their pressure against the sister post of Ain Maatouf, situated in the hills six miles to the east of Ain Aischa. In addition to causing a number of casualties, the pilots succeeded in supplying the post from the air with 50,000 lbs of cartridges and 1,000 hand grenades.

SOLDIER'S DELUSIONS.

FOUND SHOT AT HIBERNIAN MILITARY SCHOOL.

A verdict of "Death from a gunshot wound, self-inflicted during temporary insanity" was returned at an inquest in the Hibernian Military School, Dublin, yesterday, on Private Johnston, of Bagenalstown, Co. Carlow. The deceased soldier had been in poor health, and was awaiting discharge on a medical certificate.

Corporal Baxter gave evidence that on Saturday last Johnston was missed from parade, and while searching for him the witness heard a shot in Room 7 of the barracks. On entering the room he saw Johnston fall to the ground. He had a rifle in one hand and a bayonet in the other.

Captain O'Shea stated that Private Johnston suffered from delusions and imagined that he had all sorts of diseases.

Dr. Fitzpatrick gave similar evidence.

William Boyd, Bagenalstown, identified the body as that of his nephew. He did not know that Johnston had ever been "affected in the head."

ROYAL BANK CLERKSHIPS.
Examination announced for Oct. 6. Candidates should note that at the last examination 11 appointments were gained by pupils of Rosse College, Stephen's Green. 7 Successes at previous examination.—(Advt.)

GERMANY'S FAILURE IN 1918.

TRIBUTE TO BRITISH TROOPS.

From "The Times" Correspondent.

BERLIN, Monday.

In the general summary of the Reichstag Sub-Committee's report on the causes of the collapse of the German offensive in 1918, it was not possible to go into close details of the various memoranda submitted by the experts.

Among them that of General Wetzel, however, claiming, as it does, to represent the views of the German General Headquarters, of which he was Chief of the Operations Staff in 1918, demands more extensive treatment, he declared that at the time of the offensive, Hindenburg was in full possession of his health and faculties. General Ludendorff had been singled out for responsibility in some quarters, but the fact was that both shared it, and it was no compliment to Hindenburg to suggest otherwise.

The Kaiser remained in the background, although he held the highest military position.

General Wetzel went into close technical details in regard to the progress of the advance which was begun in March, giving as the reason for the immediate failure the unexpected resistance and recovery of the British troops.

FRENCH TROOPS' MOBILITY.

The success of the operation, he informed the Sub-Committee, had hung by a hair for days. Among the causes of its ultimate failure he put the phenomenal mobility of the French troops and the amazing use that they made of their railways and motor transport for bringing up their supports at the last moment to close up the gap at the Somme, the Arve and in the neighbourhood of Montdidier.

On the German side, he states, the main fault was that the German Corps and Division leaders were too much under the influence of a trench warfare. They were unable to shake their minds free of it and take advantage of opportunities. The fear of losing touch rendered them incapable of open operations. The Allied troops had been badly shaken, but were reinforced by the Americans, and the movement came to naught.

After this failure, General Wetzel went on to show, the German general headquarters decided that it was to "dictate the military law to the enemy" and bring him to the frame of mind to sue for a political peace before American help became its decisive factor. It must resume the offensive before the late summer or the autumn of 1918 with the greatest possible energy.

AMERICA TO THE RESCUE.

Information had shown that the French front was especially weak before the Seventh, First and Third German Armies, and was simply asking to be attacked. It was decided that a fresh offensive would certainly put the enemy in a worse position than in March, and might also inflict irreparable losses in fighting troops and guns. The attack followed upon this decision, and again success seemed within reach. The operation was foiled only at a last moment when the fresh American Division was thrown across the gap between Château Thierry and Villers Cotterets Wood, and the French were saved once more.

Though he does not say so in so many words, it has come out in the general trend of the evidence before the Committee that that battle before Rheims on July 15 was the turning point of the war. There followed the British attack of August 8, for which he declared the German General Headquarters was quite prepared, which convinced all those who would not close their eyes to the fact that the immediate hopes of victory were vain.—The Times Correspondent.

COUNTY CORK MURDER CASE.

APPLICATION FOR LEAVE TO APPEAL.

In the Court of Criminal Appeal, Dublin, yesterday, before the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Fitzgibbon, Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy, and Mr. Justice Johnston,

Applications for leave to appeal were made on behalf of Cornelius O'Leary and Hannah O'Leary, who were committed and sentenced to death at the Central Criminal Court for the murder of their brother, Patrick O'Leary, at Kilkerrin, Rosscarbery, County Cork, on February 26th, 1924.

Mr. Michael Comyn, K.C.; Mr. Albert E. Wood, K.C., and Mr. Joseph A. McCarthy (instructed by Messrs. T. R. Wright and Sons, solicitors), appeared on behalf of the applicants.

Mr. William Carrigan, K.C., and Mr. Eugene Sheehy (instrcted by the Chief State Solicitor) appeared for the State.

Mr. Comyn pointed out that the father made his will in February, 1921 (in which year he died), leaving everything he possessed to his wife. After her death the farm was to go to Patrick, who was the eldest son at home; £350 was to go to the daughter, Mary Anne (since deceased), and the provision made for the other son and daughter—the accused, Cornelius and Hannah—was that they were to be supported in the house and clothed.

GROUNDS OF APPEAL.

The grounds of appeal were:—

1—That illegal evidence was admitted at the trial—

(a) In allowing as evidence statements by accused in reply to questions by police officers, administered without caution, and which questions were in the nature of trap questions, and which were asked at a time when the police officers had suspicions of the accused.

(b) Said statements were not voluntary statements.

(c) In allowing statements made in reply to others in the presence of police officers, said statements being in reply to inducements held out by strangers in the presence of police officers.

(d) That evidence of the disposition of the accused and other members of the family was not evidence, and was illegally admitted.

2—(a) That the judge misdirected the jury in stating that there was evidence from which concerted action to commit the crime could be inferred.

(b) In dealing with the question of the onus of proof.

(c) In not putting to the jury that there was a question of who struck the fatal blow.

3—That the verdict was against the weight of evidence, inasmuch as there was not evidence of concert.

4—That the course of the trial was unsatisfactory, inasmuch as counsel for the accused was restrained by the judge from fully pointing out to the jury the possibility of the crime having been committed by a member of the family not on trial.

Continuing, Mr. Comyn said that the whole trend of the evidence was that there was a conspiracy of silence among the family. There was a sort of hysteria, and there was a hasty attempt to conceal the body. That would point to members of the family being accessories after the fact; but there was not a scintilla of evidence that they were parties to the murder. Their main ground of appeal was that the jury was not told the vast distinction that existed between action taken after the murder, and concerted action before that event.

Mr. Comyn then read portions of the transcript of the shorthand notes of the evidence. He had not concluded when the Court adjourned until this morning.

DEATH IN PERAMBULATOR.

ASPHYXIA FOLLOWS INFANT'S STRUGGLE.

A verdict that death was caused by asphyxia, and was accidental, was returned at an inquest in Dublin yesterday into the death of the infant son of Elizabeth Caffrey, 25 Upper Buckingham street, Dublin.

The mother, examined, said that she left her baby in the perambulator for an hour and a half. When she returned to the parlour the infant was lying face downwards, dead. She had not "strapped" the child in the perambulator, because that would make him vomit and, perhaps, choke him.

Dr. McKnight gave evidence of finding a deep dent in the pillow in the perambulator, which suggested that the child had struggled over on to his face.

DUBLIN AND THE PROVINCES.

LEINSTER.

Cockfighting in the Midlands.—Cockfights in the Ballymahon district of Co. Longford on Sunday were disturbed by the police, a sergeant of which had his suspicions aroused by hearing cocks crowing in a passing motor car. Some five hundred people were assembled at Knappogue, but after one "battle" had been decided the police appeared. The "sportsmen" then went to Doory, three miles away, where the contests were renewed, but the proceedings were again disturbed by the police. However, seven "battles" were fought. Birds representing Westmeath won four and Roscommon three, one of which was forfeited. One bird died immediately after its victory, and three others were injured beyond recovery.

Unenthusiastic Hurling Teams.—Two Kilkenny championship hurling matches fell through on Sunday because in one case a team did not attend in full strength, and in the other because one side was three-quarters of an hour late. The large crowd of spectators, who had paid a shilling a head to see the games, were very indignant.

The Practical Mind.—While the usual formal evidence was being given at an inquest in South Kilkenny, a member of the jury exclaimed: "What use have we wasting our time listening to the evidence when we know that the poor man hanged himself against the wishes of his family?"

Two Months' Silence.—It was stated at the inquest into the death of John Fenlon, aged 84, The Rower, Inistiogue, Co. Kilkenny, that he had not spoken for two months before he hanged himself in an outhouse. A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned.

A 24 Pounds Pike.—While trolling in the Shannon below Athlone on Sunday afternoon with a spoon bait a fisherman captured a pike weighing 24 pounds.

Nuns as Nurses.—In compliance with the wishes of the Clare County Board of Health, the Most Rev. Dr. O'Doherty, Bishop of Galway, has consented to allow the nursing sisters to remain in Ennistymon District Hospital until the end of August. The sisters had been ordered to leave, as the Local Government Department had declined to sanction the increases of salary recommended by the old Board of Health. The Department had also insisted that the nun acting as matron should be a trained nurse. Correspondence on the matter is proceeding with the Department, which has been requested to send an Inspector to consult with the Board on the entire nursing arrangements in the county.

Limerick County Finances.—A deputation from Limerick County Council will be received by the Minister of Finance this afternoon to discuss the serious state of the county finances. At a meeting of the Council last Saturday it was stated that at the end of last September grants amounting to £81,835 were due to the Council.

Fergus Floodgates Destroyed.—The floodgates at Clifden, Corofin, Co. Clare, controlling the flow of water from Lake Inchiquin to the River Fergus, were maliciously destroyed last Saturday night and a large volume of water released, which will seriously impede the work of draining the river now in progress. The reason assigned for the outrage is that the men who are engaged in the drainage work ignored notices calling on them to strike for increased wages.

ULSTER.

No Market for Old Potatoes.—Large supplies of old potatoes from Northern Ireland are selling in Ballybay, Co. Monaghan, as low as 3s. and 3s. 6d. a cwt. Local farmers who retained potato stocks in the hope of getting 1s 6d. a stone are sadly disappointed, writes our Ballybay Correspondent. New potatoes are selling in the town at 2s. a stone.

NORTHERN IRELAND.

Tragedy of Drink.—A verdict of accidental death was returned at an inquest in Portadown yesterday into the death of George White, aged 50, a labourer, employed at Ballymacrandle, who was found lying dead with a broken neck at the foot of the ladder leading to the loft in which he slept. He had been drinking heavily for some days, and apparently fell from the ladder while under the influence of liquor. The Coroner said that it was another case of a good man gone wrong. If he had not taken too much drink he would have been alive that day. White was well known in the town, where he was a car driver for many years.

9 Hours Day for Police.—The District Inspectator informed the Newry Urban Council yesterday that he could not put an additional "pointsman" in the town with the men at his disposal. The police were working nine hours out of the twenty-four, "which is not bad for a police force," he added.

Sunday Drinking in Omeath.—The Most Rev. Dr. O'Donnell, Archbishop of Armagh, in opening the Louth Feis at Omeath on Sunday, referred to the great work done by the Omeath Irish College. They had every advantage in that district—the advantage of lovely scenery and the great advantage that the native language existed there in all its purity. There was only one drawback, and he was glad to know that those in authority and the people of the district were determined to stamp it out. That was the great evil—the evil of Sunday drinking. He understood that there was a very considerable improvement already in that respect, but they must not cease their efforts until it was completely stamped out, thus removing the only thing that could mar Omeath's perfection both for Irish students and for those who wished to get that to which all were entitled—legitimate enjoyment.

Poteen Making in Tyrone.—Michael Kirk, Aghascrebagh, Co. Tyrone, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment in Omagh yesterday for carrying on illicit distilling at Formil on June 23 last. John McCullagh, the owner of the land on which the distilling apparatus was found, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment and fined £100, or a further sentence of three months' imprisonment. The latter lodged an appeal against sentence and fine. Kirk said that he was an ex-soldier, and was formerly employed as a miner in England. When work became scarce he returned to Ireland and set up a distilling apparatus in an empty house on McCullagh's land. He said that McCullagh knew nothing about the matter.

Sunday Street Accidents.—Mrs. Thomas Charters, of Portrush, and James Patterson, of Londonderry, were admitted to the Hope field Cottage Hospital, Portrush, on Sunday, suffering from injuries caused by a motor car, which mounted the path at Mount Royal in avoiding another car. While cycling near Dundonald on Sunday evening, Charles Stewart, aged 25, who lives in the village, was knocked down by a motor car and severely injured about the head. Michael M'Kenna, aged 28, a farm labourer, of Lisnaleen, Crossnacreevy, was standing in the road near his home on Sunday evening when he was knocked down by a motor car which swerved to avoid a motor cyclist. M'Kenna sustained concussion and shock, and was removed to the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Police Pensioner's Means.—James Maguire, a police pensioner, was bound over in Belfast yesterday for making a false representation in order to continue an increase in his pension. It was stated that he retired from the police some years ago, and was entitled to £46 16s., with an addition of fifty per cent. when the 1920 Act was passed. It was necessary when applying for the increase that he should state his means. He said that he was receiving a salary of £104 a year, when, in fact, it was £3 a week. The Bench dealt with the case under the Probation of Offenders Act.

Cruelty to Horses.—James Biggart, Druchendelt, was fined 5s. and costs at Ballymoney, Co. Antrim, yesterday, for permitting a horse to be worked while it was in an unfit condition. Patrick Laverty was fined 6d. and costs for working the animal. A policeman said that after the horse was taken from a reaping machine he found a sore the size of a five shilling piece against which the collar was rubbing. James McAfee, Tullaghgore (owner), and David Alexander (driver), were similarly prosecuted in respect of two horses, the former being fined 25s. and the latter 1s. and costs. One of the horses was in an emaciated condition and staggered in the plough. The other had a sore on each shoulder. The owner said that the horse with the sores had broken into a vegetable garden and had torn its shoulders. The other horse "took the bats and died."

"Chairoplane" Accident Appeal.—Nellie Goligy, Omagh, appealed at Fermanagh Assizes yesterday against the dismissal in the County Court of her claim against Michael Mahon, "chairoplane" proprietor, for £50 for alleged negligence. The plaintiff's case was that she fell out of the "chairoplane" (a kind of roundabout), and that the accident was due to the breaking of the chain of the "chair" in which she was seated. As a result of the fall her arm was broken. The defendant's case was that the accident was due to the fact that a man sitting in a "chair" in front of the plaintiff, twisted the chain, which caused the plaintiff's "chair" to become unhooked, and she fell out. The Court allowed £40 compensation, £12 witnesses expenses, and costs.

Postman Victim of Road Accident.—Edward Connor, a postman, residing in Cross lane, Coleraine, died yesterday morning in Coleraine Cottage Hospital as the result of being knocked down by a motor car on the Portstewart road at Ballysally, on the outskirts of Coleraine, yesterday week. He sustained a fracture of the base of the skull and severe injuries to the face and left leg. He was engaged in the delivery of letters at the time.

Open During Prohibited Hours.—Agnes Carleton, publican, Aughnamullen, Sperrin, Co. Tyrone, was fined £5 at Omagh yesterday for a breach of the Licensing Act on June 16th, but the conviction was not recorded on the licence, as the house had hitherto borne a good character. Three men found on the premises during prohibited hours were fined £1 and costs.

Death of Antrim J.P.—The death occurred yesterday of Mr. James McCoubrey, J.P., Ballymoney. Mr. McCoubrey was a prominent member of the Orange Order, and was a Freemason. He had been in failing health for some months.

Newry to Welcome Labour.—Newry Urban Council yesterday decided to give a civic welcome to the delegates attending the Irish Labour Party Trade Union Congress, which opens in the Town Hall on August 3rd next.

John Burns, aged 50, of 13 Massereene street, Belfast, hanged himself in the yard at his home on Sunday morning. He had been depressed on the previous two days.

"ACT OF PETTY TYRANNY."

LORD JUSTICE AND SEIZURE FOR INCOME TAX.

An appeal was heard at Fermanagh Assizes on Monday before Lord Justice Moore, when Alexander McLaughlin, collector of income tax, Enniskillen, appealed against two decrees awarded against him in the County Court—£5 for wrongful seizure and 10s. for assault—the complainant being William H. Creighton, furniture dealer, Enniskillen.

The plaintiff stated that McLaughlin came to his premises in Church street, in which he is now part proprietor with Robert J. Lyons, trading as Creighton and Co. McLaughlin came to seize in respect of a sum of £3 18s. 9d. due by Lyons. There was a scene in the shop, and the plaintiff asked that the police be sent for, as he denied having any responsibility for Lyons's debt. He had had no notice of any claim for the income tax, and wanted the defendant to wait for Lyons to return from Belfast. The defendant challenged him down to the back yard to fight it out, and the witness said that he would let the matter be fought out before the judge. The defendant took up a roll of congoleum which he was trying to sell to a customer and ran at him and struck him with it.

The appellant said that he went to make the seizure on 7th April, after giving the plaintiff due notice that morning. The plaintiff would not look at the warrant, and then the witness formally seized all the goods in the shop, when Creighton lifted a roll of linoleum and rushed at him and struck him, and he put up his hand to protect himself. The plaintiff was very excited. The witness told him that he was making the seizure in the name of the King, and the reply was: "The King must be very hard up." (Laughter.)

His Lordship increased the amount awarded for the assault from 10s. to £2. As to the other case, he said—"I am satisfied that McLaughlin did seize the whole of the goods for a very trifling, small debt. He had the power to seize them, but I think it was a piece of petty tyranny, and it is very much to be regretted that an official of the Inland Revenue took such a course, as it makes the whole department very unpopular. I affirm the decree for £5, with costs of appeal."

FIRE ON A DUKE'S ESTATE.

The Duke of Bedford's woodland estate, near Ampthill, caught fire yesterday, and water proved powerless to check the flames. The fire raged fiercely over several acres, and was not overcome until much entrenching work had been done by the estate workmen and firemen.

DUBLIN THEATRES.

VARIETY AND REVUE.

A good variety programme is submitted at the Theatre Royal this week. The orchestra which has taken the place of the regular musicians on strike continues to give a good account of itself. It is perhaps because of its size—more fitted for the purpose of variety accompaniment than was its larger and more noisy precedessor. Among the dancing items, the performance of Carr and Parr is particularly good. Byron and Byron introduce a different style of dancing in their act, and with much effect, and a third style is illustrated by Crasey, Hicks and Pass. Gillie Potter is good in his monologue, and is also a quick, comedy chalk artist, of ability. Nat D. Ayer, the composer, gives at the piano a number of his own songs, for the most part, of the modern American style. Fred Keeley and Ivy Aldous, entertainers, and Manuel and Francois, eccentric acrobats, complete a good programme.

OLYMPIA THEATRE.

"Models and Muddles," a musical farcical comedy, which was presented under the direction of Fred Le Gren at the Olympia Theatre last night, had a very good reception. Apart from the choruses, which were well rendered, and the dancing performed with great animation, there was some good individual singing, and plenty of comedy. Hary Le Gren and Joe Poynton were the principal comedians, who had many jokes and kept the audience in very good humour. In a domestic comedy, H. Le Gren and Kitty Gannon were very amusing in their repartee. Charles Stanleni and Adah Le Gren were applauded particularly for a duet which they sang in a pleasing way. Other artistes who merit praise are William Miller, Fred Oxo, A. W. Scott, Mark Coney and Dolly Prichard. The costumes were colourful and harmonised with artistic scenery.

LONGFORD COUNCIL AND THEIR ENGINEER.

Acting on a letter from the Local Government Department, a special meeting of the Longford Urban Council requested the Council's Engineer, Mr. McKenna, to resign, but he declined to do so, and the Council made an order for his suspension, and appointed a substitute in his place.

The report of the Local Government Inspector, on his inspection of Longford, caused much surprise in the town, where Mr. McKenna is very popular.

U.S. MARKETS.

HEAVY BUYING.

(Reuter's Telegrams.)

NEW YORK, Monday.

Stocks opened firm. Vigorous buying was continued, due to the recent improvement in Industrial earnings and expanding activity in manufacturing circles, and there was a renewed accumulation of orders for standard Railroads, with Atchison Common, New York Central, and Baltimore and Ohio leading. Sporadic profit-taking in General Electric, U.S. Steel Common, U.S. Cast Iron Pipe and American Can. was temporarily depressing; but heavy buying was resumed early in the afternoon, and Mack Trucks, General Electric, American Tobacco, some Mail Order shares, Motors and Motor Accessories touched the year's highest figures. The market closed firm. Government Bonds easy; Railroad Bonds steady. The day's sales totalled 1,320,000 shares.

Money on call closed steady at 3½ p.c. bid and 4 p.c. asked. All business was done at 3½ p.c. Sterling exchange steady. Silver ½c. up at 69¼.

The visible supply of corn in the United States decreased 1,964,000 bushels on the week.

The visible supply of wheat in Canada, including that bonded in the United States, decreased 3,013,000 bushels on the week.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Monday.

WHEAT opened easy, ½c. to ¾c. lower, owing to bearish weekly foreign statistics, and further declines took place on advices of favourable weather in the North-West, lower outside markets, larger interior receipts, liquidation, favourable crop reports from the Canadian North-West, and the slow demand for export and by outsiders. The market partially reacted later, owing to stocks decreasing and shorts covering, and closed steady, although 3c. to 1c. down. Spot easy.

Receipts—Western Cities	104,000	140,000
Chicago	42,000	57,000

Receipts of hogs at fifteen principal Western centres, including Chicago, since 1st March total 11,282,000, against 14,599,000 same season last year.

Sir John Gilmour, Secretary for Scotland, inaugurated at Edingurgh yesterday the Royal Sanitary Institute Congress, which is being attended by nearly nine hundred official delegates. He remarked that the housing situation in Scotland was getting worse. They must free their minds of pre-conceived notions that the only materials from which houses could be built were bricks and stone.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY BEATEN ON TOUR.

HOBBS FIRST TO SCORE 2,000 RUNS.

When Dublin University resumed their match at Northampton, Northants were 170 for four. Bowell and Towell batting runs came quickly, putting on 100 before Bowell was bowled. Bellamy tried to force the pace and mis-timed a pull, being caught and bowled by Sugden. Wright, the old Cambridge Blue, follwed next, and went for the bowling. He lost his partner, Towell, at 260, but the score rose rapidly, Murdin hitting a good six to the leg boundary. Wright, hitting at everything, had some lucky escapes, nothing coming to hand. Immediately before lunch Murdin was magnificently caught by McVeagh, the score being 333. Wright carried on merrily after lunch, helped by Wooster and Fitzroy, before being caught behind the stumps for a vigorous and entertaining 83. Kelly was the most successful bowler, getting three for 29. The Trinity fielding was exceptionally good, Peacocke at cover being loudly applauded frequently.

Trinity opened their second innings at three o'clock, Kelly being bowled by Wooster in the second over. Leyden and McVeagh, batting well, carried the score to 39. Sugden, driving three 4's through the covers, fell a victim to Wooster eventually. Peacocke only stayed a short time, being caught off Wooster on the last ball of an over. With the first two balls of his next over, Wooster completed the hat trick, bowling McVeagh and Wills. The University captain arrived to stop the rot. Batting quietly, he proceeded to advance the score, McCausland doing valuable work at the other end. In spite of the bowling being frequently changed, the score mounted steadily, reaching 94 before McCausland left. Hoffman did not stay long, but Pigot found a valuable partner in Beckett. The score reached 135 before Beckett was brilliantly taken by Brown off Wright, who had come on at the pavilion end. Pigot completed his 50 after an hour's batting, but fell a victim to Wright after a very correct and useful innings, the score being 142 for nine. The last wicket only put on one more run, Northants winning by an innings and 56 runs. Wooster and Wright bowled well, being backed up by splendid fielding, especially by Norris and Fitzroy.

Admirable bowling by Nigel Haig enabled Middlesex to secure a first innings lead of 172 at Old Trafford, and they left off 383 runs ahead with five wickets to fall. Mann wisely refused to risk losing the big advantage gained, the bowlers having worked splendidly for over four hours. After getting Makepeace caught at slip, Haig took three more wickets while the total rose from 42 to 55, and when rested at 76 he had bowled eleven overs, five maidens, for 25 runs, and took four wickets. Barnes, going in third wicket down at 54, played splendidly, being last out after three hours and ten minutes. His score of 84 included seven 4's, a 3, and ten 2's. The first Middlesex batamen could not score so freely as on Saturday, but Bruce played finely for seventy minutes, Hendren by comparison being slow in a partnership that added 74 in an hour. Haig proved more vigorous. He drove splendidly, one straight hit from Hopwood clearing the ring, and there were ten 4's in his 65, made in forty-five minutes, without a bad stroke. Enthoven helped to put on 69 in the last twenty-five minutes, enabling Middlesex to secure a commanding position. The weather was dull, and the crowd numbered about 11,000, and the collection for Parkin's benefit yielded £96.

Light showers delayed play in G. Gunn's benefit match at Trent Bridge for twenty minutes, but subsequently the weather remained fine though dull, and twelve thousand spectators saw Notts make a fine response to Yorkshire's big total, occupying an easy-paced wicket for five hours and scoring 312. Like their opponents, the home county started indifferently, the brothers Gunn being dismissed for twenty-six, and then they made a meritorious recovery. Whysall batted with splendid judgment for three hours and twenty minutes, driving and leg hitting being his chief scoring strokes. Fourth out, he made his runs out of 198 without a fault and hit nine fours. Carr shared with him in a third wicket stand, realising 91 in seventy-five minutes, the Notts captain driving with characteristic power, making eight boundaries and being eventually caught in the slips off a mis-hit. Walker participated in another partnership of eighty minutes' duration, which produced 81. He and Whysall completed their thousand runs for the season, Walker for the first time in his career. Yorkshire had half-an-hour's batting in poor light, and in increasing their lead of seventy-four by twenty-four lost Holmes. Sutcliffe was missed by Carr in slips before scoring.

Sussex had all the best of matters at Eastbourne. They gained a lead of 61 on the first innings, and then disposed of seven Warwick batsmen for 130, so that the visitors finished up only 69 ahead with three men still to be dismissed. In putting together a score of exactly 300 Sussex were indebted in no small measure to Arthur Gilligan and Tate, both of whom batted with delightful freedom.

Surrey made light of Kent's bowling at Blackheath when they increased their Saturday total of 121 to 547 for five wickets. Hobbs and Sandham played delightful cricket. Hobbs completed his twelfth hundred and one hundred and twenty-fifth of his first class career after a stay of two hours and forty minutes. He also had the honour of being the first batsman to obtain two thousand runs this season. Both Hobbs and Sandham left within a few minutes of each other. Hobbs hit fourteen fours and three threes, while Sandham claimed seven fours and seven threes.

Hants gave such an indifferent display of batting at Southend that after following on, requiring 304 to avert an innings defeat, they again fared badly, losing in the last hour three wickets for seventy-three.

The wicket wore splendidly at Clarence Park, and Derby made sure of points on the first innings, even if they cannot force a win to-day. They owe their strong position mainly to their captain and Lee, who came together when two wickets had gone for ninety-two, and in two hours and twenty-five minutes added 162 before Jackson was taken in the slips.

The game between Glamorgan and Worcester at Cardiff was left in an interesting position last night. With only one wicket intact Worcester are 221 runs on.

The Navy gave another feeble display with the bat at Lord's against the Army, and, dismissed a second time for the poor total of 136, were easily beaten by an innings and 119 runs.

FIRST LORD NOT TO RESIGN.

CRUISER CRISIS.

COMPROMISE POSSIBLE AT CABINET MEETING.

Whether or not the Government have yet finally made up their minds with regard to the cruiser question, the Press Association has authority for stating that the decision will not be made, or, at any rate, announced, till after the meeting of the Cabinet, which is to be held to-morrow, when it is expected that the Prime Minister will make a statement in the House of Commons on behalf of the Government, setting forth the grounds for the conclusion come to, and the course decided on.

The question is not one of principle but of expediency. It is between the claims of economy, as advocated by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and those of security and employment combined, as voiced by the First Lord of the Admiralty and the Minister of Labour.

From the Ministry of Labour point of view, the present prevalence of unemployment warrants the laying down of five new cruisers, but this would mean an addition of ten millions to the Navy estimates for the year, bringing them to the figure of something like sixty million pounds, and in the present state of the national finances and of the trade of the country, the Treasury contention is that this cannot be justified.

It may be assumed as certain that while considerable divergence of opinion remains, there is no likelihood of Mr. Bridgeman's resignation, which has been suggested as one of the possibilities of the situation.

On the contrary, it may be taken for granted that the First Lord will do his utmost in the direction of making it plain to the Sea Lords that their duty lies in setting a firm example to the service of obedience to the instructions of those in responsible authority for the affairs of the nation.

The ultimate decision will probably be a compromise, and, for the additional expenditure to be incurred, economies in dockyards—Pembroke, for instance, is likely to be leased—and in the pay of all future recruits, will be planned.

THE OFFICE OF CORONER.

MEDICAL MEN'S SUGGESTIONS.

The British Medical Association Conference at Bath yesterday adopted important proposals emanating from the Medico-Political Committee affecting the office of coroner, the principal of which was that it should be made administrative and placed under the Minister of Health's control.

The Conference also adopted the policy of the Committee involving payment for all death certificates and a scale of higher fees for inquest attendance and post-mortem examinations.

A motion to resuscitate the Association's earlier measures against the practice of medicine and surgery by unjustified persons was, after discussion, allowed to drop.

Stepping out of the cage ready to begin work at Rose Heyworth Pit, Abertillery, South Wales, yesterday morning, Francis Mytton, aged 18, was struck on the head by a piece of wood, which came hurtling down the shaft, and instantly killed. William Bolton, colliery pumpsman, was seriously injured.

In accordance with the custom following on the occasion of a fatal accident, all the five hundred men about to start work in the pit returned home for the day.

SENATE ELECTION.

VOTERS SHOULD SEARCH THE REGISTER.

RETURNING OFFICER'S ADVICE.

"Inspect the register of electors without delay" is the advice of Mr. Wilfred Brown, Chief Returning Officer for the Senate election, to all persons over the age of thirty years.

In an interview with an Irish Times representative, Mr. Brown agreed that much confusion appeared to exist in the minds of voters as to the manner in which the election would be conducted. "There should not," he declared, "be any reason whatever for such confusion. There is nothing to baffle the understanding of a voter of ordinary intelligence."

The election, he pointed out, would be on the very same lines as an election for the Dail, and, so far as the voter was concerned, the only thing that mattered at the moment was whether his name was on the register of electors. If his name were on the register he had nothing more to trouble about, at least not until polling day.

NO TROUBLE EXPECTED.

Mr. Brown said that he was unable to see any reason why the marking of the ballot paper should occasion the voter the slightest trouble or difficulty; at any rate, any more than was incidental to an ordinary Parliamentary election. The electors, he said, would have a good deal of time in which to study the names of the seventy-six candidates, and in all probability by the time polling day comes round the vast majority of them would have made up their minds as to the men for whom they would vote.

Mr. Brown does not think that any difficulty need be anticipated in regard to illiterate voters on the score that the number of candidates happens to be much greater than in a general election.

When formal announcement of the completion of the panel is made copies of the panel will be displayed in every post office and Civic Guard barracks and in other public places. The names will be arranged on the list in the same order as that in which they will appear on the ballot paper so that electors will be afforded every chance of studying the list well in advance of polling day.

THOSE WHO CAN VOTE.

Mr. Brown said that it was as well to emphasise that only persons over the age of 30 years who are registered as Senate electors are entitled to vote. The register of electors, it should be noted, contains eight columns, and unless the letter "S" appears in the second column opposite the name of a person that person will not be entitled to vote.

Every person over 30 is advised to inspect the register without delay, and having found his name he should take a careful note of his number (in column I) and the distinguishing letter of the polling district, which will be seen at the top of the page and on the title page. Knowledge of this number and letter will enable him to find out the polling station and the actual polling booth at which he is to vote.

The Under Sheriffs will publish lists setting out the various polling places and the voters who are to poll there. Persons registered in the registers of Dublin University and the National University of Ireland will receive their ballot papers by post from the returning officers for these Universities.

FULL LIST OF CANDIDATES.

Below we publish a full list of the candidates who have been nominated for the Senate Election, which has been provisionally fixed for September 17th. The electors above the age of thirty years on the register in the Free State will be asked to select nineteen of the candidates, voting for candidates in the order of their choice by—placing the figure 1 opposite the name of their first choice; placing the figure 2 opposite the name of their second choice;

placing the figure 3 opposite the name of their third choice, and so on.

By giving preferences in this manner for ALL the candidates of whom he approves, the elector makes sure that his vote will have the fullest possible effect. Senators so elected will have the right to retain their seats for twelve years.

AN IRISH EXPLORER.

DR. GANN IN BRITISH HONDURAS.

A correspondent writes to say that Dr. Gann, who was mentioned in a Reuter's telegram in the Irish Times of July 16 as conducting explorations in British Honduras with Mr. F. A. Mitchell Hedges and Lady Richmond Brown, is an Irishman, and received his early education in Ireland.

Dr. Gann was born in the neighbourhood of Croagh Patrick, and is a grandson of the late Mr. John Garvey, D.L., of Co. Mayo, and a nephew of Mr. John Garvey, D.L., of Loughlinstown House.

There was a good muster of animals yesterday for the donkey prize competition promoted by the Dublin Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which was held at 28 Dartmouth road, Ranelagh, by kind permission of Mr. F. A. Heney, veterinary surgeon to the Society. These competitions have been held under the auspices of the Society for over twenty years, and are intended to encourage the proper care and treatment of donkeys by poor persons using them for trading purposes.

The animals were judged by Mr. Heney, assisted by Miss Hillas (honorary secretary), Major Arthur Whewell and Mr. W. J. Colman, A.F.C.L.

In the jacks class, in which there were ten entries, the first prize was won by Patrick O'Brien, Little Fitzwilliam place; the second by Mrs. Ellen Daly, Cross Kevin street, and the third by John Keogh, Lower Kevin street.

There were seven entries in the mares class. The results were:—1st prize, Mrs. Mary Sherry, Garden lane; 2nd, John Kinsella, Lower Gardiner street; 3rd, James Regan, Ballyboden, Rathfarnham.

IRISH-MADE FILMS.

NEW YORK VISITOR'S SUGGESTION.

"I think you have here a wonderful opportunity for making films. You have about the finest scenery that possibly could be found, and a climate which in summer is just as good."

This view was expressed by Mr. Herbert Hall Winslow, of New York, at the Dublin Rotary Club luncheon yesterday, when he spoke on "Ireland as a Film Producing Centre." There was a large attendance of Rotarians and visitors, and Mr. Walter J. Beckett presided.

Mr. Winslow began by humorously remarking that the three great industries in America to-day were automobiles, moving pictures and bootleggers. (Laughter.) The Government, he said, was striving to discourage the last-named industry, and spending millions of dollars to accomplish it, but it was rather a difficult task, considering that the vast majority of the people did not believe in prohibition. That question was bound to come up whenever an American opened his mouth.

The next biggest industry in the United States was film production, and it was twenty-nine years since the first picture was projected on the screen. He had been only two weeks in Ireland, and wished to say, after careful consideration, that we had here a wonderful opportunity for making films. The city of Los Angeles, in California, was only a small place when pictures were first taken there, but it had now grown to be a large and prosperous community.

The speaker went on to say that if studios were built here he saw no reason why films should not be made in the winter as in the summer. It seemed to him that some organisation might be effected, with Irish actors trained to the films, a training which would be short, as it did not take so long to train actors for the films as for the stage.

THE RECOVERY OF DUBLIN.

Film production here, properly done, would tend to dispel a good deal of the misconception and misrepresentation prevalent in the United States about the Ireland of to-day. He had noted the recovery of Dublin from the aftermath of the war; he had seen its business and enterprise; and he thought it only right that the real conditions should be exploited in America.

Major Bryan Cooper said that one of the most distinguished film producers in the world was Mr. Rex Ingram, an Irishman and a graduate of Trinity College. They might be able to persuade him to return to the country and direct a film, but they should have the advantage of his name. He thought that America had secured and would maintain a monopoly of the film industry. If they wanted to do some practical good for the country, they should induce some big American firms to come over here and try new scenery and new districts, and they should to build an up-to-date studio, with up-to-date lighting.

Mr. McConnell said that it was up to this country to spread the gospel of the true Ireland.

THE INCOME TAX.

DIVIDENDS FROM ABROAD.

Notice was given in last Friday's Dublin Gazette that "every person who is intrusted with the payment of any dividends which are payable to any person in Saorstat Eireann out of any public revenue other than that of Saorstat Eireann; or who has intrusted to him any interest, dividends or other annual payments payable out of or in respect of the stocks, funds, shares or securities of any foreign or colonial company, society, adventure or concern for payment to any person in Saorstat Eireann; or who has intrusted to him any annuities, pensions or other annual sums payable out of the funds of any institution in India for payment to any person in Saorstat Eireann" must send full particulars to the Revenue Commissioners, Dublin Castle, within one month.

Failure to comply with the terms of the notice will involve the forfeiture of £100 over and above the tax chargeable of the dividends or other payments.

3,000 YEARS OLD.

URNS FOUND IN NORTHERN IRELAND.

Interesting additions to the collection in the Belfast Museum have recently been made through the archæological section of the Belfast Natural History and Philosophical Society. They include a sepulchral urn found at Comber by the late Mr. Guy Stone and presented to the Museum by his sister, Miss Stone, of Barnhill; it measures 11in. high and 9½in. diameter at mouth, and is decorated rather richly. Another is a remarkable sepulchral urn found in a cist in the townland of Bonecastle, Co. Down, presented by Mr. H. C. Lawlor, hon. secretary of the section. It is 18½in. high and 12¼in. diameter at mouth, and is probably the largest urn yet recorded as having been found in Ireland, though not so large as some of the barrow urns found in England. It is not much ornamented. It contained a few burned human bones. The age of these urns is attributed by recognised authorities to about 1000 to 1599 B.C., or between 3,000 and 3,500 years old.

The third is a remarkable bronze cauldron, 17in. high and 12¼in. diameter at mouth, found in 1885 in Derniveigh Bog, near Ballymena, some ten feet beneath the surface. It is made from one piece of bronze hammered into its shape with extraordinary skill. It has been damaged by frequent use on a fire, and the resulting leaks have been patched with a skill inferior to that of the original maker. As an example of hammered bronze it is probably unsurpassed in prehistoric Irish recorded finds. Its age is problematic, but may be anything from 1,500 to 2,000 years old. It was sold to a buyer at the Knowles sale, and repurchased and presented to the Museum by the following:—Major King, Colonel Berry, Right Hon. S. Cunningham, Messrs. Lepper, Heron, Theo. Greeves, Arthur Greeves and H. C. Lawlor.

DUBLIN ART GALLERY.

17,317 VISITORS IN SIX MONTHS.

A meeting of the Art Advisory Committee was held at the Municipal Art Gallery, 17 Harcourt street, Dublin, Mr. Coghlan Briscoe presiding.

The Curator's report was submitted, showing an increased number of visitors for half-year ending June, 1925 (17,317), and a statement as to sale of art postal cards during past year was noted.

Samples of an additional twelve subjects (including statuary) to be reproduced on art postal cards in sepia photogravure were inspected and recommended to be printed and placed on sale.

The following were accepted for exhibition, with the best thanks of the Committee:—

Gifts—"Portrait Drawing of J. M. Synge," by Harold Oakley, 1906 (presented by the artist); "Troops Entering Cambrai" (etching), by Gerard de Witt (presented by Mr. Crampton-Walker).

Loan—Set of nine stained-glass panels illustrating J. M. Synge's poem, "Queens," by Harry Clarke, A.R.H.A. (lent by Mrs. Hurndall).

The Curator was directed to communicate with the Town Clerk and the Law Agent to ascertain whether the Committee of Inquiry lately appointed by the British Government had yet sent in its report on Ireland's claim for the thirty-nine Lane bequest pictures now in London.

THE IRISH FAILING.

Speaking at a large meeting of the workers, at Burgh quay, last night, Mr. James Larkin said that the Irish race had a curious psychological defect of the mind which caused them, when within a "measure of safety," to fall to pieces and disintegrate, and turn upon the men who had taught them and fought for them.

THE ALIENS' ORDER.

COLOURED MAN ARRESTED IN CORK.

A coloured man, who gave the name of "Prince Shervington of Abyssinia," and claimed to be heir to the Throne of that country, was arrested in Cork yesterday.

On June 22nd an order was made against him at the Cork District Court requiring him to furnish particulars of his identity to the Registration Officer under the Aliens Order, 1925. He again appeared before the Court on June 30th, when he was charged with failing to comply with the order, and the Justice imposed a fine of £5, with the alternative of six weeks' imprisonment. The last day on which the fine was to be paid was fixed as Saturday, the 11th inst., and he failed to comply with this order.

He was arrested yesterday morning and conveyed to Cork male prison.

BABY WEEK.

DECORATED PERAMBULATOR PARADE ON THURSDAY.

"Baby Week," under the auspices of the Rathmines Child Welfare Committee, opened yesterday at the Harold's Cross Centre, Dublin. The first three days are devoted to baby competitions, and there are entries from the Rathmines and Milltown Centres, and from some of the city babies' clubs.

On Thursday there will be a parade of babies in decorated prams at 3.30 from the Creche, Richmond Hill, to the Town Hall, Rathmines, where an Exhibition of Irish Dancing and Homecraft will be opened at 4 o'clock by Sir Simon Maddock. A cinema show and educational display will be given in the Town Hall on Friday, and on Saturday evening a prize-giving takes place for the winners in the baby competitions and for the Homecraft exhibits made by the fathers and mothers.

The objects of "Baby Week" are to rouse the public to the importance of safe-guarding infant life; to promote right ideas on child welfare; to increase facilities for safe-guarding infant life by the establishment of infant welfare centres, and by encouraging the best training of those engaged in maternity work.

The Harold's Cross Centre opened at the end of 1921. In 1922 the attendance recorded was 2,007, and in 1924 it had increased to 4,143. The Centre is open every Thursday, with a doctor in attendance. Mothers can buy supplies there of the best children's foods at reduced prices, and, in necessitous cases, are given milk free.

FARMHOUSE WRECKED.

OWNER ILL-TREATED BY RAIDERS.

Shortly after midnight on Sunday a report reached the Civic Guard at Charleville that the house of a farmer named William Flynn, at Coulcoum, about five miles from Charleville, had been broken into earlier by a party of raiders, who ill-treated the owner.

It appears that at about 8.45 p.m. Mr. Flynn entered the house, and a number of stones were flung after him. When he came out again four men struck him, knocked him down, kicked and beat him in a savage manner. Word was sent to the police, who hurried to the scene. An examination of the premises showed that five windows, a cabinet mirror, drawingroom table, marble clock and other furniture in the house had been smashed. Two flitches of bacon and some tea and sugar which were taken from the house were discovered by the Guards underneath a window.

The raiders took with them a pony and trap, which the Guards found abandoned yesterday morning.

The police arrested James and William Doolan, of Charleville, and Edward McCarthy.

The housing question in Paris continues to be so acute that a special housing commission has been appointed. M. Levassor, a deputy for Paris, who has closely studied the post-war housing problem, has been chosen to take charge of the new department.

NEW CANON OF ST. ASAPH.

The Archbishop of Wales has appointed the Rev. George Woosung Wade, D.D., Professor of Latin at St. David's College, Lampeter, Canon of St. Asaph Cathedral, in succession to Archdeacon Grimaldi Davies, who has resigned.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

MOTOR TAXES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It is refreshing to note that the Government may, in the near future, readjust motor duties and "make the punishment fit the crime" by placing a large part of the tax on petrol. In the State of California the amount of annual duty or licence on all cars, irrespective of horse-power or value, is 12s. 6d. The duty on petrol is 1d. a gallon—their gallon is but 128 oz. against 160 oz. here. In this way the heavy traffic contributes its fair proportion of tax towards the upkeep of the roads. When I visited San Francisco last year I was informed that more revenue was raised by this method than would be likely if cars were heavily taxed and petrol went free.

The huge total of petrol-driven vehicles in California was stated to be 1,250,000, against some 35,000 in the Free State, the population being about equal. I might add that the roads were in excellent condition.—Yours, etc., "EQUITY."

Dublin, July 20th, 1925.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It would be interesting to know why the Committee on the present system of taxation of road vehicles wishes to penalise the private motor car owner. If the tax on commercial vehicles is to be reduced by 50 per cent., why should the tax on the private vehicle not be treated in like manner? With, or without, a tax on petrol, the commercial user has the advantage of the private user in getting his petrol at the commercial rate. Also in your table of comparative cost of present and proposed taxation it would be interesting to know the m.p.g. taken for each horse-power in working out the new cost.—Yours, etc.,

SHOOTING PROSPECTS IN THE FREE STATE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I have read the letter signed "One Who Knows," and the paragraph headed "Firearms Act—Shooting Prospects in the Free State." You correspondent speaks for Co. Clare; I can speak for Co. Mayo and also Leitrim, to which all that he has said applies. For some years past everyone who could raise a gun was killing game all the year round, and pheasants and partridges are nearly extinct. Many who call themselves "sportsmen," and should have known better, were killing game out of season and shooting down every unfortunate hen pheasant that they met.

It is useless to make game laws and fix licences if some steps are not taken to enforce the law. Many grouse will be killed from the 9th of August and sent to the English markets in time for the opening day, the 12th, as they fetch big prices. I suggest that special watch be placed by the postal authorities and Customs to discover these. It is to be hoped that the Civic Guard in all country stations have been authorised and directed to support the game laws. Constant supervision over the jobbers who buy up game from poachers and unauthorised persons should be kept.

In conclusion, I do not think that many Englishmen are keen to come to the Free State for shooting, for it will be a long time before they forget the "shooting" that has taken place in the country.—Yours, etc.,

"ANOTHER WHO KNOWS."

Co. Mayo, July 18th, 1925.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Amplifying the remark of mine, which you quoted in your article under the heading "Irish Shooting Prospects," I may explain that a reason for the want of assistance to the police in the past, to which I referred, was the clause inserted in almost every lease to landholders, reserving the game to the landlords. In consequence of this clause, farmers were in the position of poachers on their own land if they interfered with the game.

The Land Purchase Acts brought a great change, doing away with this penal clause and giving the owner a right to the game. Farmers now realise, as I stated in the speech you quoted, that they should protect sport, coursing and shooting, and keep them clean.—Yours, etc., MICHAEL DUNNE.

THE NATIONAL WAR MEMORIAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It would appear from recent notices in the papers that a move is about to be made in connection with the Irish War Memorial in Merrion square, Dublin. Is it too much to hope that the trustees of the fund will see their way to institute a competition amongst Irish architects who are ex-Service men, of whom there are several in the country, for the design of the proposed memorial?—Yours, etc., "FAIR PLAY."

THE BOTANIC GARDENS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It was with much interest that I read your article on Glasnevin Botanic Gardens in the issue of the 13th inst. As an ex-student of Glasnevin Gardens and the Royal Botanic Gardens of Kew, London, I should like to express some views on the "popularising" of our national Botanic Gardens. Dublin is so well provided with open spaces that, in my opinion, it is unnecessary to encourage joy-riders to Glasnevin. Lovers of a garden are given every facility to inspect, admire and take notes on plants throughout the Gardens, but if you introduce an uninterested element, you hamper and probably expel those who use the Gardens for educational purposes.

At Kew, the acreage of which is 288 acres, as compared with about 50 at Glasnevin, my own experience is that on Saturdays, Sundays and Bank holidays it is impossible to use the grounds for study. We have the masses introduced—sometimes upwards of 80,000. One has to queue up to enter the houses and when you enter you are met with offensive odours of Limehouse and Whitechapel—oranges, perfumed sweets, various inferior brands of tobaccos and, oh! those vile powders and paints of the weaker sex. It is of interest to note that these "odours" are often attributed to the plants. You are hustled along by the attendants ("Pass along, please,") and are literally pushed along by those behind you. You are glad to get out in the fresh air again. The unwary visitor who enters by chance a tropical house finds the odours made considerably worse by the humidity and there is no turning back—you are pushed through.

Have what rules you like, papers, sweet-bags, cigarette ends and boxes and luncheon papers get there all the same. What the public can smuggle in is wonderful. I have on more than one occasion known a dog to be smuggled in and liberated in the Gardens. Does all this add to the beauty? It is often suggested to put a toll on at the gate. Worse again. This was done at Kew and proved an absolute fiasco. If you make your visitors pay, you must relax your rules. If you relax your rules an inch, your visitors instantly take a foot. They feel, if they only pay a penny, that they have bought the gardens for it and abuse them accordingly. The edges of the grass are trampled down and youths jump across the flower-beds. People may think that would not occur at Glasnevin, as the population of Dublin is not very great; but it must be considered that Glasnevin is less than one-fifth the size of Kew.

Do those who advocate the "popularising" of Glasnevin Gardens realise the increased expenditure of public money it will entail? At present one policeman keeps watch on week-days and three on Sundays; if you introduce the masses, you will want more. Kew Gardens supports a force of over thirty men for patrol work alone. These men have to be paid, provided with uniform and boots, etc. Is the Phœnix Park, one of the largest public parks in the kingdom, which has fewer regulations for youth, not large enough for Dublin folk—nay, for all the "joy-riders" in Southern Ireland?

If you want to make the Botanic Gardens more popular, have a tea-rooms opened outside where refreshments could be obtained at popular prices. It costs nothing to re-enter the grounds if you wish, and spares the grass and paths a lot of unnecessary litter. Again, why does not some enterprising stationer get out series of views in the Gardens, which visitors would readily buy? It would not cost very much for the upkeep of a kiosk outside. A letter-box should be attached and stamps be sold, so that one could send a card (view) to one's friend straight away. Little booklets could be got out cheaply, with general views of the Gardens and some of individual and specimen plants and a short history and description, and could be sold at about sixpence. Another could be issued on "food plants" cultivated in the Gardens, their uses and where found in the grounds, and so forth. This is, I am sure, what the public want. When one visits a place of interest and of national importance one usually looks for a souvenir. Seeing these, their friends want to go, too.

May I add that since I have been in England the opportunity has been afforded me of visiting some of the most reputed gardens, and the more I see of them the more I admire our National Botanic Gardens?—Yours, etc., B. PERCIVAL MANSFIELD.

The death has occurred in America of Miss M. Potter, Ballyshannon, Co. Donegal, who was in the service of the former Irish Prisons Board for twenty-nine years. She served as matron in Grangegorman, Waterford and Limerick Prisons, Ennis Reformatory, and on her retirement was in charge of the female prison at Cork. Miss Potter went to America three weeks ago for a holiday.

Make it a "Kodak" holiday

Haven't you often said that the greatest pleasure of a holiday lies in looking forward to it? And that is probably how you feel about it, if you have never tried a "Kodak" holiday. Just try one this year. You get all the pleasure of looking forward to it; you thoroughly enjoy it while it lasts—but the great advantage of a "Kodak" holiday is that you save the fun and happiness in jolly little "Kodak" pictures and then you have the real pleasure of looking back upon it for the rest of your life. Get your "Kodak" now.

For successful holiday snapshots use Kodak Film. Kodak Film is unequalled in speed; it allows the greatest latitude for errors in exposure, and it is always reliable—it never "lets you down." When you buy film for your camera, ask for Kodak Film—the dependable Film in the yellow carton.

POOR RACING.

STOLEN FRUIT BEATEN BY A HEAD.

OUTSIDER WINS JULY PLATE.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

LEICESTER, Monday Night.

The death of Mr. A. J. Ash, who took to racing three or four years ago, with Jack Leader as his trainer, is much regretted. Mr. Ash actually took up racing as a recreation, on the advice of his doctor, but he very quickly became absorbed by it. He was a good buyer of Irish bloodstock, and in the last few years had always recruited his string at the Dublin sales. If he made a moderate purchase in O'Dorney he was very lucky in winning some nice races with two-year-olds, which had not cost him a high price. Several of his horses were intended to run here this afternoon, and fields were the poorer in consequence of their absence. Indeed, the racing all round was poor here.

For the valuable Oadby Breeders' Plate only four turned out, and the Bath winner, Stolen Fruit, was a good favourite. After he had taken up the running from Treasurer he looked like winning comfortably, but he began to weaken close home, and, Son of Spring, vigorously ridden by Smirke, got up to beat him a head.

The Mahdi has been slow in coming to hand since Sir Charles Hyde bought him from Lt.-Colonel Blacker at Doncaster as a yearling the year before last. It was clear, however, that the good-looking half-brother to El Obeid, was much fancied to win the Prince of Wales's Plate. Jug o' Rum, however, was well supported against him, and, making all the running, Mr. Curzon's consistent colt beat The Mahdi comfortably by two lengths.

With such as Happy Recruit and the Thought Reader f. not taking part in the Wigston Plate, Green Goddess was given an easy task, and, starting at even money, she won comfortably by a couple of lengths from the newcomer, Mrs. Chester Beatty's Musical Revue, who was much expected to make a successful début. Third place was filled by the Forget-me-Not f., who started at 33 to 1.

A little coup was brought off in the first race with Victoire f. from Walter Griggs's stable. She started favourite and won by a length from the Starwort f., being retained at 600 guineas. A hot favourite in King Emperor was beaten four lengths by the outsider, Monnaie, in the other selling plate. Fawn Way had his successful career checked in the last race, where he found Beaver Puff too much for him.

To-morrow's programme here is not inviting. Taylor will not start any of his eight candidates in the Leicestershire Oaks, nor will Mr. Lambton send Palma Bay or Brodick Bay. In the circumstances, Captain Boyd-Rochford's filly, EXPLOSION may win. PIGEON POST should be good enough to win the Evington Handicap, and NOTHING VENTURE, who will be running his seventh race of the season, may beat Some June in the Wistow Hall Open T.Y.O. Plate.

At Ayr, I like the chance of ACTIUS, in the Castlehill Handicap.

THE CURRAGH.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

This year's Irish Oaks Meeting at the Curragh promises to be exceptionally interesting, for apart from the big race, which constitutes the centre-piece of to-morrow's card, there are several other important events down for discussion, and the sport on all three days should attain to a capital standard. The customary ample train service has been arranged, and in addition to the specials which leave Kingsbridge at 12 noon, 12.40 and 1 o'clock each day, a special will be dispatched to-morrow from Belfast at 10 o'clock and is due at the Curragh at 1.15, and as was the case on Irish Derby day, this train will, no doubt, be largely availed of by Northern sportsmen.

The principal race to-day is the Drogheda Memorial Stakes, to contest which Tranquillete has been sent from his training quarters in England. When running here his form was decidedly smart, and he has shown no signs of deterioration since going to the other side, where he won a good race at Windsor. Golden Quest, Flying Phœnix and Cadwall also boast useful credentials, but it may be best to stand

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

The Leicestershire Oaks, which is the outstanding feature of the card at the concluding stage of the Midland gathering to-day, will not attract a field of very large dimensions, and although Taylor holds a very strong hand here, it may be found that the Manton trainer will not be represented. If Miss Gadabout were saddled it would appear useless to look beyond Lord Astor's filly for the winner, and only in her absence I make Explosion my alternative selection. The French-bred colt, Insight II., ran sufficiently well in the Wokingham Stakes to have a good chance in the Evington Handicap, despite the fact that he is asked to concede weight all round. Harpist has yet to justify the promise he showed as a three-year-old. Morals of Marcus showed up very prominently in recent home gallops, but I would rather take sides with Tarpon. I hear that Cottrill will be represented by Pigeon Post in preference to Lady Clara. The colt is none too reliable, but if he can be induced to do his best he should win. Some smart juveniles are under orders to sport silk in the Wistow Hall Open T.Y.O. Plate, and Wootton can saddle a dangerous candidate in either Honour filly or Cymbal. Simony, however, is expected to improve on his running behind Comedy King at Newmarket last week, and whatever beats him should win. Selections:—

AYR.

THE PRUDE'S FALL WINS BY A HEAD.

KOLINSKY'S FINE FINISH.

There was a large attendance at the second day's racing at Ayr yesterday. The principal event, the Montrose Handicap, was notable for the poor display given by the fancied candidates, with the exception of the Irish representative, Knocklong Boy. Constellation, who was made favourite, did not get well away, and defeat was accepted some way out. Phaltan never appeared with much of a chance after the first furlong, but Downholme ran well for four furlongs, and the same may be said of Dunin. More than half-way through the race Knocklong Boy was challenged, first by Doorway and then by The Prude's Fall. At that time the Irishman looked to have the race safe, but The Prude's Fall, finishing gamely in response to vigorous handling by Gordon, secured the verdict by a head.

Call Alice was always a well-backed candidate for the opening event, the Cuninghame Selling Plate, and ran gamely to beat Corcel in a great finish by a neck. The other selling plate was won in easier fashion by Elsey's Scotch Lil, a rank outsider, the favourite, Norty Gurl filly, being last all the way.

In the Stand Stakes there was a typical finish on Kolinsky by Wragg, who lay behind his two other opponents till well in the line for home, and then came with a run to win by three lengths.

Sea Kale, who had won very easily here on Saturday, was fully expected to carry his penalty to success in the Auchincruive Two-Year-Old Plate, but, although he ran gamely, he found one too good for him in Gardyloo.

The Eglinton Stakes went to Coulthwaite's Fariray, which was always well placed.

GOLF.

THE SENIOR CUP.

FIRST ROUND MATCHES.

The first round of the Southern Section of the Irish Senior Cup, which was played last evening at Dollymount, provided nothing in the nature of a surprise, so far as the team results went; but in individual matches there were several unexpected results.

Chief among these were the defeats of the two Dun Laoghaire leaders, J. L. Crabbe and W. G. McConnell, and the comparatively easy victory of H. E. Bell, who played No. 1 for the Castle, over H. M. Cairnes.

While Royal Dublin and Milltown each won six matches, the Castle team put up a splendid fight against Portmarnock to lose by only the odd match. In the match between Dublin University and Hermitage, Trinity finished in great style, for with Hermitage leading by three matches to one the remaining three went beyond the home green. Joseph Gorry, of Naas, the second player on Hermitage, had to go to the 21st to defeat J. Seymour Davis, and thus give his side the victory; and Cecil Hames succumbed to W. A. Hunter at the 20th. But the sternest struggle of the evening was waged between James Fielding and A. W. Briscoe, who finally settled the matter on the 25th green, a result which probably is a record for a Senior Cup match. The semi-finals will be played this evening as follows:—Royal Dublin v. Portmarnock, at 5 o'c., and Milltown v. Hermitage, at 5.30.

Motorists!
Do not accept War-Surplus brake linings
During the War we made hundreds of tons of friction fabrics for many other purposes than lining brakes of motor cars.
Some of this material is at present being sold by War-surplus dealers for motor car brakes at very low prices and is unsuitable for the purpose.
We cannot accept any responsibility for this material and urge all motorists to buy only from reputable "Garages" who can guarantee that they use no War-surplus material for relining the brakes of motor cars.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES.

TONE AND COMMENT.

DUBLIN MARKING TIME.

The eve of the fortnightly settlement was not conducive to brisk or even average business on 'Change, and, so far as securities were quoted, prices largely marked time. Very considerable fluctuations have taken place in quotations during the past few weeks, and the settlement may prove a heavy one on the other side in certain directions, and there may be an absence of "carrying over" facilities. In Ireland there is practically no carrying over business on 'Change, though recently isolated transactions of the kind have been arranged; but, as matters of the kind at present stand, those who purchase must realise before the account or pay for their purchases. Government National Loan was steady at last price, but British Funds occasionally improved, with Conversion 3½ per cent. Loan bid up to 77. The Bank market was quiet, with Royals the turn easier. An odd lot of Great Northern Ord. was sold at a fresh decline. Dublin United Tramways were harder. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were quietly firm. Parent Trust shares closed rather in request. LONDON MARKETS FIRM.

IRREGULAR RUBBERS.

The commencement of the settlement yesterday, with the carry-over in Mines and preparations for a heavy contango in Rubbers to-day, kept markets rather subdued, and business generally, apart from that connected with the account, has been restricted. There was, however, a good deal of activity in Rubber shares, but the tendency was slightly irregular. Leading shares opened the turn easier, but hardened up later. A certain amount of profit-taking was in progress, and this also tended to send prices lower, but at the end of the day a number of the leading issues were again quoted at an advance. A steady to firm tone characterised the Gilt-edged market, and little alteration was registered. A firm tone was evident in Foreign Government stocks, but here also final figures were not altered to any extent. A much improved tone was shown in the Home Railway department, and some good improvements were recorded at the close of the day. Colonial and Foreign Rails, on the other hand, with the exception of Grand Trunks, which further improved, were inclined to ease. Business in Industrials remained on the small side, but a steady tone was maintained. Oils and Mines were firm in tone, and a few good improvements were marked in both departments.

RUBBERS AND THE ACCOUNT.

The settlement this week will not be attended with the anxiety that was present at the previous settlement or two, when, writes the Star, it was a matter of general knowledge that serious financial difficulties existed in some quarters, and particularly in the provinces, where certain speculators had over-reached themselves. However, the difficulties were got over, and the worst fears were not realised, and, although we have seen frenzied gambling in Rubber shares, there is no hint of likely trouble even in that market. It goes without saying that the enormous business that has been done in Rubber shares both on speculative and investment account will tax most severely the resources of brokers and jobbers. Speculators have been given to understand in a manner unmistakable that carry-over facilities will not be provided with great liberality. On the contrary, they will be strictly circumscribed. With this understanding in view, it is known that many speculators are quite willing to take up their shares, while those of the public who are buying with the serious intention of keeping their shares for an indefinite time will in no wise concern themselves about such facilities. To the extent that they absorb shares, to that extent will the floating supply be diminished.

WAIHI GOLD.

The secretary of the Waihi Gold Mining Company announces that a considerable majority of the shareholders desire an immediate reduction of the capital of the company by a return of 5s. per share in cash, thereby reducing the nominal value of each share from 10s. to 5s. General meetings will be convened in the autumn in order to consider and, if thought fit, pass the necessary resolutions to give effect to the shareholders' wishes.

SETTLEMENT ON HONG KONG STOCK EXCHANGE.

The Hong Kong Legislative Council has decided not to proceed with the June Settlement Bill in an amended form. Mr. E. Zeitlyn, barrister-at-law, addressed the Council on behalf of his clients—"more than a hundred business men"—and advocated the annulment by the Legislature of all June contracts, on the ground that a state of emergency existed, in which all sources of credit had dried up. Mr. W. E. L. Shenton, on behalf of the Stock Exchange and the Share Brokers' Association, stated that, by 36 votes to 1, the joint associations were prepared to carry out contracts between themselves on the basis of the payment of the difference between contract prices and flat rates. In the subsequent discussion it was stated that the Governor did not favour repudiation of contracts, as that would affect the Colony's credit. The Legislative Council therefore unanimously agreed to Mr. Shenton's proposal.

GOLD SHIPMENTS FROM HOLLAND.

The Bank of England has announced on four recent occasions the acquisition of 1,000,000 sovereigns from Holland. Simultaneously, the returns of the Netherlands Bank showed a decline of the gold reserve by the same amounts, so that there cannot be any doubt that the £4,000,000 in sovereigns have been bought from the Dutch bank. A decline of the gold reserve of the Netherlands Bank by over 10 per cent. is by no means insignificant for the country concerned. Let us imagine the impression that an export of gold amounting to over £16,000,000 would create in this country. Yet, the export of a proportionate amount from Holland has not created any material disturbance in the Money Market there, for the simple reason that, in selling out part of its gold, the Netherlands Bank does not diminish its reserve, but merely transforms it. The amount with which the Netherlands Bank has been credited for the sale of its gold is understood to have been used for the purpose of acquiring short-term bills in the London discount market. Assuming that the average discount rate is 4 per cent., the investment of £4,000,000 in short-term bills will secure the bank an annual yield of £160,000.

GREAT SOUTHERN RAILWAYS COMPANY.

NEW CHAIRMAN.

At a meeting of the Board of the Great Southern Railways Company, held on the 17th July, 1925, it was unanimously resolved that Sir Walter R. Nugent, Bart., be elected Chairman of the Directors, in succession to the late Sir William J. Goulding, and that Major H. A. Henry be elected Deputy Chairman.

LONDON MOVEMENTS.

A steady to firm tone was manifest in Gilt-edged securities, and week-end prices were not altered to any extent. Consols remained at 56½, while War Loan issues were all content to repeat Friday's quotations. 5½ per cent. Treasury Bonds were a slightly better market, the closing figure being ⅛ higher at 101⅛.

Among Foreign Government stocks, Reconstruction Loans were inclined to harden at first, but closing prices showed no change on the day's business. French Loans were repeated, the Fives being 15⅞ and the Fours 12⅛. Chinese were held at their higher levels.

RAILS STRONG.

A strong tendency was shown in Home Rails, and prices were pushed up. Great Westerns at 89 registered a gain of 1½ points, while Midlands at 81 were also 1½ points to the good. North-Eastern 5 p.c. Pref.-Ord. at 60½ and the Def.-Ord. at 21¾ were ½ and ½ higher, respectively; while Metropolitan Consols at 69 were ½ higher. Among Southerns, the Pref.-Ord. at 77 were a point higher, and the Def.-Ord. at 40½ and the "A" Shares at 38 both marked improvements of ½.

Among Colonial and Foreign Rails, Grand Trunks once again went ahead. The Pacific 4 p.c. Debs. gained a further 2 points to 43, while the 4 p.c. Guaranteed and the 4 p.c. Perpetual Deb., both at 78, were a point better. Bahia Blanca Guaranteed Stock and B.A. Western were both ½ higher. Canadian Pacifics, on the other hand, dropped a point to 145, while Central Uruguay at 65½ and Cordoba Central at 14 were both ½ down. Entre Rios Ord. also shed ½ on the day, the closing figure being 34½. Mexican Rails were held, as were San Paulo Ord. and United of Havana.

RUBBER SHARES DECLINE AND RISE.

The market for the raw material was a little firmer than on Saturday, the price for spot being 4s. 5½d. to 4s. 6d. per pound. London stock fell 234 tons on the week to 4,025 tons. There was again a considerable turnover of shares, although there was less excitement than last week. Leading issues generally opened the turn easier, but later a harder tendency set in, and in the majority of instances initial losses were made good. Anglo-Dutch gained 1s. on the day to 59s. 6d., while Batu Tiga at 50s. 3d. were 2s. to the good. Glenshiel firmed up to 24s. 3d., or 2s. 3d. better. Kuala Lumpur were an exceptionally firm market, the closing quotation of 74s. 6d. being 3s. better than Friday's level. Langkat Sumatra and Ledbury were both good spots, the former gaining 1s. 1½d. and the latter 1s. 3d. Malayalam jumped to 50s. 1½d., or 1s. 1½d. higher. Pegoh gained 1s. 3d. to 60s. Rubber Trust, after an early set-back recovered, and finally recorded an increase of 1s. to 47s. 9d. Sendayan New put on 1s. 9d. and Straits Rubber 10½d. Tebrau gained 1s. 7½d. and United Sua Betong 1s. 10½d., while the New shares, now fully paid, were quoted at 88s. 6d. Yam Seng gained 3d. to 4s. 4½d. B.N.B.R. Trust dropped back the turn to 15s. 9d., or 7½d. lower, while Eastern Trust at 28s. were 2s. lower. Golden Hope fell away to 40s., or 1s. 6d. down.

OIL SHARES BETTER.

Business in Oil shares yesterday was of a steady character, and, while there were few special features of interest, the market as a whole maintained its recent firmness, price movements generally being in the upward direction. American advices to hand over the week-end had little real influence upon the market, the price movements in that centre on Saturday last having been of an irregular character. Shells, however, came over steady and made a firm start on this side, while later in the day a strong demand arose for the shares and the price advanced to 4⅛. Royal Dutch, which were quoted at an advance in New York on Saturday last, were also a good market. Anglo-Americans and Burmahs improved, but Anglo-Persians were down. Mexican Eagles continued in request. As regards Venezuelans, British Controlled received only a moderate amount of attention, but were a trifle up on balance.

TEA SHARES IRREGULAR.

An irregular tendency was manifest in the Tea share market yesterday, while the amount of business put through was on an extremely small scale. Price changes, however, were fairly numerous, but, while a few issues finished the day slightly higher, the majority of alterations were against holders. Amalgamated Estates were a good spot, and at the close they registered a rise of 1/16 to 38⅛. Consolidated Tea and Lands also moved up, being 1/16 to the good at the close. Eastern Assam finished 1s. 10½d. below the week-end quotation.

INDUSTRIALS IDLE.

Yesterday morning proved an exceptionally idle one in the Industrial market, and the tendency was uncertain. Dealers feared a last-minute bout of selling to provide funds for rubber commitments, but this did not occur, and as a result the tone in the afternoon was much improved. Trading was of small dimensions, and as an indication of the lack of real strength it may be remarked that inquiries for "new time" were non-existent. The end of July account, which opens to-day, is one of 21 days' duration, due to the incidence of the August Bank Holiday. The revival of interest in Textiles which set in last Friday gathered momentum, and, under good support from the North, Bradford Dyers rose 9d. to 71s. 9d.; Bleachers 1s. to 64s., and Fine Spinners 6d. to 47s. 6d. Dealers reported that former sellers had turned buyers, and this gave a better appearance to the whole group. Courtaulds, after dipping to 105s. 3d., rallied, and gained 6d. on balance to 106s. Celanese closed unchanged at 7s. 6d., but Grouts were a trifle easier at 56s. 3d. Drapery Shares were devoid of interest, there being nothing to go for at the moment. Waring and Gillow New Debs. were dull at 4 dis., Underwriters being left with about 49 p.c., and this depressed the Ords. to 7s. 6d., a fall of 3d. Among Foodstuffs and Caterers, A.B.C.'s were in small request, and gained 9d. to 25s. 9d., but Lovell and Christmas New failed to hold at their early level of 1s. 9d. prem. and receded to 1s. 3d., at which level a good many shares changed hands. Nestlés Pref. continued to be picked up around 23s. On the eve of the settlement it was not surprising to find profit-taking in evidence in Schweppes Def. The price fell at one time to 35s., but a rally left the shares 6d. lower on the day at 36s. The leading Brewery Stocks were neglected, Watney Def. closing without alteration at 280 and Guinness at 650. On the market bare of stock, Hodgsons rose ⅜ to 11⅜, while Threlfalls fell 1/16 to 2 1/16. Distillers were freely dealt in, but moved against holders to the extent of 6d. to 61s. 6d. Gordon Hotels were dull, and lost 6d. to 12s. 9d., with Spiers and Pond still a friendless spot, 9d. lower at 26s. 6d. Apart from County of London New firm at 1s. prem., the Electricity Supply group passed an idle day. Cable Stocks were featureless; but among the makers, Callenders were 6d. better at 58s. Of Wireless issues, Canadian Marconi fell 1½d. to 4s., although the Parent shares, after touching 1 11/16, recovered to 1⅝. Radio Corps., however, were sold and relapsed to 11⅛. In Coal, Iron and Steel shares, Guest, Keens were 3d. better at 30s. 9d., but William Corys fell 6d. to 36s. 9d., and Powell Duffryns 3d. to 28s. 9d. Among Machinists, Howard and Bullough and Platt Bros., on the better textile outlook, rose to 1⅛ and 25s. 6d., respectively. Stewarts and Lloyd Def. lost 6d. to 32s. 6d., and United Steel Pref. a like sum to 10s. Of Miscellaneous descriptions, further weakness was apparent in British Portland Cements, which fell 1s. to 28s.; Associateds had business from 13s. 1½d. to 13s. 7½d. Eastwoods Cement hardened to 3s. 3d. prem., and a fair turnover was seen in Francois Cementation around 9s. 9d. Motor shares again proved a falling market. Dennis lost 6d. to 48s. 6d., Rovers 6d. to 10s., and S.T.D., at the same level, were sold in small lots. Thomas Tillings closed a few pence lower at 44s. 3d., with National Omnibus on the dull side at 1⅛. Brazilian Tractions were active and better at 60. In Argentine Meat shares, it was refreshing to find a distinctly firmer tone ruling, based on the idea that conditions are now at their worst, and that the late autumn will see an improvement. Smithfield and Argentines at 10s. 6d., Union Cold Storage New Pref. at 9d. discount, and River Plates at 4s. 3d., were in consequence slightly better. Newspapers continued a neglected department. In the Land group, Duff Development advanced sharply to 14s. 6d., a gain of 10½d. on the day. Bays rose 1/16 to , but the Pref. lost that fraction to 4 1/16. Dunlops enjoyed a large turnover, and improved to 18s. 7½d. Tobacco shares tended upward under the lead of Imperials, bonus talk being in evidence. On balance, Imperials rose 6d. to 100s. 6d., after touching 101s., while B.A.T.'s held their ground at 104s. 6d. Cope Bros. were wanted and improved to 69s. 6d. Home Banking issues moved within narrow limits. Of Overseas scrip, Chartered of India threw off their recent dulness, and on supporting orders put on ⅛ to 19⅛, Standard of South Africa rising a similar amount to 11⅞. Movements among Insurances were confined to a fall of 1d. in Sun Life to 41s., and in British Generals to 49s. A rise of 1s. in Rosarios to 27s. formed the only change among Nitrates, while Shipping shares remained steady at previous levels.

BELFAST.

Belfast Exchange commenced the week with a quiet tone. War Loan changed hands at 100⅛ and 100⅜, and Consols at 56⅜. In Bank shares the market was dull and idle, business being confined to a transaction in Westminster fully-paid at 49s., and Midlands at 8 11/16. In Railway stocks, Great Northern Ord. was dealt in at 37. In Local Boards, Belfast Corporation 5 p.c. stock was done at 98⅛, and 3½ p.c. 1942 issue at 75⅛. In Industrials, Bloomfield Bakery Pref. was done at 5⅛. White, Tomkins and Courage Pref. brought 16s. 9d., Dunlop Rubber 18s. 7½d., and British-American Tobacco Ord. 105s.

LONDON MINING MARKET CHEERFUL.

UPWARD TREND OF VALUES.

Thanks to the better tendency which developed in the Mining market during the account now in course of settlement, the making-up list discloses a big majority of advances. All departments have benefited, and owing to the transference of speculative interest to other sections of the House, the open account has been considerably reduced. The carry-over was effected with ease in most cases, the usual charge being 6 to 7 p.c., but difficulties were encountered in continuing some of the Platinum issues. Despite the incidence of the carry-over, there was a good volume of new time dealings, and as the cheerful tendency noticeable towards the close of last week was still in evidence, the trend of values was again generally upward. The accumulation of orders over the week-end would seem to indicate that the public is beginning to take a keener interest in these markets, though at present the buying is of a discriminating character. The Plate group displayed considerable strength, T.C.L. being bought in large numbers on home, Paris and Cape account, and closing with a substantial gain on the day. Transvaal Devs., on the latest cablegram, S.A. Townships, Hendersons and Hendies Platinums were all in demand and higher. Of the Finance shares, Central Mining continued in good request and Anglo-American Union Corporation, Rand Mines, Generals, Gold Fields and Anglo-French, all moved up. In the Rhodesian department, Tanganyika were a centre of activity, and Zambesia Exploring were also well in the running. Chartered were in better fettle, and Rhodesia, Broken Hill and Bwana Mkubwa were picked up. Selukwe marked a recovery. Diamonds were not greatly in favour, and the only noticeable movement was a slight shrinkage in Jagersfontein. The price of tin was slightly higher at £261 6s. 3d. per ton, and the activity in the share market showed further expansion. The gains were not individually large, but they were spread throughout the list. Coppers were firm, Tintos going ahead smartly on Paris buying. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET.

AMPLE SUPPLIES.

DISCOUNTS WEAK.

Conditions were without material change in Lombard street yesterday, the demand for money being very quiet, while supplies remained ample. Old loans were renewed at 3½ p.c., while fresh money was offered over the night at 3½ down to 3 p.c. The clearing banks, however, made no change in their rate for renewing weekly fixtures, the charge being 3½ p.c. The Discount Market was still weak in the absence of sellers and on the condition of money. Fine three months' bank bills were not better than 4 5/16 p.c., four months' being quoted at 4⅜ p.c., and sixes at 4⅜ to 4 7/16 p.c. Second-hand Treasuries were inquired for at 4¼ 4 5/16 p.c.

The silver market was quiet, and prices remained at 32d. for spot and 32 1/16d. per oz. for two months' delivery. The market price of gold remained at 84s. 11½d. per fine oz. The Bank of England announced the receipt of £1,000,000 in sovereigns from South Africa, while £8,000 in sovereigns were exported to Singapore and £5,000 in sovereigns to Java.

A further slight improvement was shown in French and Belgian francs, Paris closing at a little under 103 and Brussels at below 105, but lire depreciated to 131 1/16, and the Greek and Rumanian exchanges moved in our favour. There was a demand for Dutch florins, the rate for which further declined to 12.10⅛, bringing it to below parity, while there was a substantial improvement in Norwegian and Danish kroner to 26.64 and about 22.60, respectively. Sterling in New York hardened to 4.86 1/16. In the South American group, Argentine dollars reacted, but the milreis further improved.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL SALES.

At the wool sales at Sydney yesterday 5,798 bales were offered, of which 5,530 were sold, private sales accounting for 134. There was an average selection and a full attendance of buyers. There was a very strong market for best merino, especially stylish and fine descriptions, chiefly on French and American account, and prices varied from 5 to 7½ per cent. above the closing rates of the last series. Other descriptions of merinos, comebacks, and cross-breds were unchanged. France took the bulk of the offerings, American, Yorkshire, Japanese, and local buyers giving useful support. Greasy merino fetched 32½d., comebacks 21½d., and cross-breds 19½d.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

At the wool sales held here to-day 5,000 bales were offered. Competition was general and very animated, practically all offerings being sold. Recent rates were maintained.

LONDON WOOL SALES.

At public sale three catalogues were submitted jointly totalling 12,618 bales, and comprised 1,748 New South Wales and Queensland, 841 Victorian, 986 West Australian, 935 Tasmanian, 3,273 New Zealand, 627 Cape and Natal, 67 sundries, 4,119 Punta Arenas, also 275 bales English slipe. Fair competition prevailed from a full attendance of buyers, all the finer grade of merino meeting with good support on Continental account, and late rates were generally maintained. Bradford houses continue to be interested in the better growths of crossbred, but inferior and faulty parcels of merino moved off quietly at easy prices. English slipe merino sold 21d., do. clothing 24d., pelt 10d., half-bred lambs 12½d., clothing 13d., crossbred clothing 8½d. to 14½d., washed pieces 5d. to 14d.

Why the Ready-for-Service Suit Wins

The Ready-for-Service Suit for the man who can afford to dress well is a relatively modern product. Five years ago very few were sold. To-day, roughly, 50 per cent. of city business and professional men are well dressed in Ready-for-Service clothes, and it is safe to prophesy that another five years will increase present figures by 50 per cent. Why this sudden conversion? There are many reasons, but the chief amongst them is the smartness of the model. As against the Made-to-Measure garment it wins every time. The graceful lines, the care in matching, the perfect balance—these points are compelling. Add good, clean workmanship, a splendid assortment of materials, and you have the cause of the sudden success of Ready-to-Wear clothes.

The man who is not of average build USED to think it was impossible to get a correct fitting. It has taken some time to drive home the fact that there are to-day nearly 100 fittings (that is, a suit to fit 100 different figures), and even yet one hears a man lament the fact that he is "built on too generous lines." Let such a man just try whether he can be fitted. He will be amazed. Similarly, if he is short, short and stout, tall and slight, tall and stout, standing erect or stooping. No matter what his figure, there are suits designed specially to meet his needs. The fact that a man has a choice of hundreds of suits at the price he wishes to pay, and can by fitting on discover the shade best suited to his needs, is a big inducement, as against the selecting of a small pattern which may or may not tailor to expectations. Finally, there is the difference in price. To some men £3 0s. 0d. does not mean much; to many it means a good deal. Buying a NINE GUINEA suit for SIX means saving the cost of Hat, Shirts, Gloves, and Ties. Add to all this the feeling that one is better dressed in a Ready-for-Service suit and you have the reason why Ready-for-Service clothes win.

The House for Men makes an exclusive study of Men's Wear—CLOTHING AND OUTFITTING. It has carved an enviable place in men's esteem during its two years' existence. It is better fitted to-day to give SERVICE than ever before. The House for Men is a living, thriving force. You should know it intimately.
